

BEAT OUT BRAINS OF HIS SISTER-IN-LAW

AWFUL CRIME LIFE SENTENCE FOR BLAKER TOURIST HOTEL FOR CLAREMONT

Insane Florist Kills Woman With a Chair While She Was Praying For His Child.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 24.—Louis DePaoli, a florist, residing at 420 Charter Oak avenue, beat out the brains of his sister-in-law, Catherine DePaoli, at an early hour this morning. His murderous work was done with two chairs, both of which were broken during his fierce attack. The cause of the crime is not positively known, but it is attributed to homicidal mania.

ATTACKED AT NIGHT.

The victim, who was the wife of Antoine DePaoli, brother of her slayer, had accompanied the latter and his family home from church and was invited to remain all night.

Some trouble ensued and none of the family had retired at 3 o'clock this morning when the murdered woman attempted to put one of her sister-in-law's children to sleep.

The father resented this and killed her. Several hours later Antoine DePaoli came to the house inquiring for his wife. Louis told him that she was dead and threatened to kill him. Antoine notified the police and his brother was arrested on a charge of murder.

HYPNOTIC SPELL.

Louis DePaoli surrendered to the officers without a struggle. He declares that his sister-in-law, whom he killed, held his children under a hypnotic spell.

His baby daughter, Annie, recently was affected with eye trouble, and this he attributed to the mysterious influence of the woman he killed.

It is asserted that while prayers were being offered for the recovery of the child's eyesight, DePaoli suddenly seized a chair and began his ferocious assault, from which he did not cease until long after the death of Catherine DePaoli, whose body was beaten out of semblance to human form.

ASK TO HAVE CHIEF BALL OUSTED FROM OFFICE

Charges of Incompetency Are Made by Business Men—Fire Board to Investigate.

A petition circulated at the instance of Frank Matthews, president of the Bay City Iron Works, which was recently destroyed by fire, was filed this morning with the Board of Public Works, asking that Fire Chief N. A. Ball be removed from office on the ground of alleged incompetency.

The petition should have been addressed to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, as the fire chief is not under the jurisdiction of the Board of Works.

The signatures to the petition comprise, in several instances those who were unsuccessful in bidding for the repair of three fire engines recently.

WHAT BALL SAYS.

Relative to the charges Fire Chief Ball says he has nothing to say at the present time, but will amply defend himself when the proper time comes. Chief Ball states he does not fear an investigation, and believes he can show that the charges are based either on misinformation or personal animosity.

The document filed this morning reads as follows:

THE CHARGES.

To the Honorable Board of Public Works of the City of Oakland—Gentlemen: The undersigned respectfully petition your honorable body to remove from office the present fire chief, Nicholas A. Ball, and to appoint to that position some competent man fitted and able to intelligently handle serious fires, and to maintain in a state of reasonable efficiency the various branches of the fire department in this city.

"The undersigned are moved to make this petition directly by the disclosure of the present fire chief's utter inefficiency, shown and evidenced by his conduct of the recent fires in the neighborhood of Clay, Washington and Third streets and indirectly by the evidence it disclosed of the general laxness and want of preparation which has become at least partially prevalent in the fire department under Mr. Ball's mismanagement.

THE FIRE.

"The location of the fire above mentioned, and the character and extent of the property endangered, are too well known to your honorable body to need recital here. It is sufficient to say that had the Burnham-Standford Company's mill been burned, and had an ordinary wind prevailed, no human effort could have saved that portion of territory and water front lying east and south thereof, from total destruction, and as we hereinafter show, that mill was saved not by any effort of the fire chief, but, on the contrary, by forcibly disobeying his orders.

"We call your attention to the following incidents, occurring at the above-mentioned fire, which incidents can be proved by competent testimony before your board: (a) Engine No. 1 arrived at the fire without any fuel for its furnace. (b) The water tower arrived at the fire without necessary hose couplings.

THE COUPLINGS.

"A messenger had to be sent for these couplings, and after their arrival much difficulty was experienced by the firemen in connecting them, on account of the inefficient condition of the couplings. During all time occupied by these proceedings the water tower was useless. (c) Upon the arrival at the fire, the fire chief, before sending in any second alarm, spent several minutes carefully and deliberately removing and folding away his coat and vest, and removing, and carefully depositing in safety, his cuffs. He then proceeded very leisurely and slowly, to turn in the second alarm. In passing, your petitioners desire to say, that however creditably the above-mentioned acts reflect upon the care and neatness of the chief, regarding his personal appearance, his conduct in this respect was not appreciated by

JUDGE MELVIN.

GEORGE BLAKER.

JUDGE HENRY MELVIN THIS MORNING SENTENCED GEORGE BLAKER TO IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE. THE BOY WAS CONVICTED OF MURDER IN THE SECOND DEGREE.

Judge Melvin Declares the Youth Committed an Atrocious Crime—Perjured Himself on the Stand.

A WHOLE
LIFETIME AT
SAN QUENTIN.

Such was the sentence pronounced this morning by Judge Henry Melvin upon George W. Blaker for the murder of Thomas Cook at Fruitvale on July 22 last. A hush fell over the courtroom as the sentence was pronounced, and those who crowded the place out of curiosity, left quietly, oppressed with the feeling that they had witnessed a tragedy. Not yet seventeen years of age, young Blaker stood before the bar, with hat in hand, and evidently did not appreciate what the sentence meant to him. Seated within the rail was Captain Charles H. Blaker, with tear-stained face, and his daughter, Mrs. Jennie Gotte, who was there to lend him her support in the time of his affliction.

NO TEARS NOR SCENE.

There were no tears shed and no scene. Attorney A. L. Frick had a short talk with father and sister just before the pronouncing of sentence, and probably prepared them for the worst. With the leniency of the present laws in the paroling of prisoners, a feeling spread through the courtroom that if the boy behaved himself he would not be required to serve out the limit of his sentence, and could gain the benefit of such a law after sufficient time had elapsed for him to have realized to the full extent the enormity of his crime.

PROCEEDINGS SHORT.

The proceedings did not last long, and downstairs in another department, Percy Pembroke, another of the trio of youths charged with complicity in the same crime, awaited the coming of the District Attorney to take up the prosecution of the case against him. He was there with his father and his mother beside him, neither of whom had the heart to see what became of Blaker, but sat with their son in the deserted courtroom, from whence all had gone to see the final act in the case being closed upstairs. Among the spectators at that scene were many of the jurors who today are listening to the evidence against Pembroke, and what effect it may have upon them remains to be seen.

IN THE COURT-ROOM.

It was but a few minutes after 10 o'clock when Judge Melvin ascended to the Judge's seat in the criminal department, and called the case, "The People against Blaker." The prisoner had been sitting alone in one corner of the room used as a sort of prisoner's dock at times, and at others the jurors who try the men who sit there have their seats. At the calling of the case he came forward and at the same time Attorney Frick arose, and, addressing the court, made a formal motion setting the case for this morning instead of for November 27, as originally set as the day for sentence. This motion was granted and the Judge then instructed Clerk Glover to arraign the prisoner. After the reading of the document setting forth the fact that he had been duly tried and convicted of the crime of which he had been charged, he was asked if he had any legal cause to show why sentence should not be pronounced upon him.

ATTORNEY FRICK'S PLEA.

With the ending of the reading, Attorney A. L. Frick, addressing the Judge, said: "There is no legal cause, your Honor, why sentence should not be pronounced upon this young boy. A jury has found him guilty of murder in the second degree, which as we take it, it had a right to do, and which was a part of its function. 'This defendant is a very young man. He was only a few days more than sixteen years of age when this crime was committed. There is nothing in his demeanor or that of his family that would indicate that he belongs to the criminal class. It has been shown that the boy lost his mother several years ago, and the boy's father is engaged in an occupation that takes him away from home a great portion of the time, and he probably has not been able to give him that attention which he would like to have done.

ASKS FOR LENIENCY.

"I think that leniency may justly be urged in this case. Your Honor knows better than I the policy of the law. While it has in view the protection of society, it also has in mind the reformation of the offender, and is it the best thing to leave this young man entirely without hope?"

Addressing himself to the prisoner, Judge Melvin said: "Blaker, as I have had no occasion to say before, it is at such time as these that I feel the responsibility of my position and never did I feel it more keenly than I do at the present moment. While your youth would naturally weigh heavily in your favor, I have before me my oath which I have sworn to keep.

AN ATROCIOUS CRIME.

"I have also before me the atrocious circumstances connected with the crime of which you have been found guilty. You gave your unfortunate victim no opportunity to yield up what you were after—his money. On the other hand, I do not believe you intended to kill him. But the man who stops a wayfarer at the point of a pistol, is a much more simple sort of a criminal than you are.

"By its verdict, the jury said that it did not believe what you said, and I myself believe that you committed perjury in the testimony you gave on the stand.

THE JUDGMENT.

"It is the judgment of this court that you be taken by the Sheriff of this county, and by him delivered to the Warden of San Quentin, and by him confined there for the term of your natural life."

For a few moments the court was still, and then a general move began of those in the court room to file out, and the prisoner was led out and back to the jail, from where he will be taken in a day or two to begin the service of his long sentence.

ALLEGED BANDITS ARRESTED

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 24.—Detective Thacker and J. A. Hubbard last night landed two men in the County Jail against whom there is said to be strong evidence that they held up the Redding and Delmar stage and killed Messenger Haskell. They have refused to give their names.

FOOTBALL TICKET SELLER IN TROUBLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—H. H. Waterfelt, who was arrested by order of Mayor Dunne on the charge of speculating in tickets for the Chicago-Michigan football game, was arraigned in court today and after agreeing that he would sell no more tickets, was discharged on the payment of his costs.

DEATH EXPECTED.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—The condition of Captain Samuel S. Brown, the coal operator and horseman, is very serious today. It is said that his death is only a question of a short time.

WARSHIPS MENACE TURKEY

LONDON, November 24.—The Foreign Office informed the Associated Press today that the Porte, having refused to accede to the demands of the powers, the naval demonstration will proceed, the matter now being in the hands of the naval commanders.

PARIS, November 24.—It is stated in official quarters here that the exchanges of communications between the powers concerning Turkey's answer to their ultimatum have resulted in the practical determination not to consider the answer as postponing the naval demonstration, which will proceed without further parley. It is understood that the warships of the powers are already moving from Piraeus. Their objective is not yet definitely stated, but the Island of Mityene still appears to be the objective applicable to the situation.

Splendid Outlook for a Great Structure on the Beautiful Ballard Property

The project to build a fine tourist hotel at Claremont has taken such definite shape as to give bright promise of success.

It has been given a good start at the launching, and will certainly be pushed to a successful conclusion if the public-spirited moneyed men on this side of the bay will only actively co-operate. Every man of property in Alameda county ought to lend a hand in this matter, for the proposed hotel will be a benefit to the whole county.

The site is an ideal one, situated on the borders of both Berkeley and Oakland, on a noble eminence commanding a panoramic view of the bay, studded with islands and shipping, and the crowded wharves and residence-covered heights of San Francisco.

THROUGH GOLDEN GATE.

It looks out, through the Golden Gate, over the greater part of Oakland and Alameda, and in the background is a stately sweep of hills which shut out the north winds and afford a scene of rare sylvan beauty.

Immediately adjacent are ample grounds for gardens, tennis courts and golf links. The topography readily lends itself to adornment, and furnishes a setting graceful and beautiful.

A finer location can scarcely be found; certainly there is none more convenient or less calculated to arouse local jealousies. A hotel of the character planned has long been a public need on this side of the bay. For years the project of building one has been discussed with enthusiastic longing. The advantages it would confer on the community at large is admitted, and the necessity for it was never so great. At no previous time have conditions been so favorable for the erection of a hotel to accommodate tourist travel. Why, then, should this project be taken up with unanimity and carried to a successful conclusion. The need exists and we have the money. Can it be said that the enterprise is lacking. Enlightened self-interest alone ought to insure the success of the scheme.

THE SITE.

The site of the proposed hotel is the Ballard property, famous for years as the finest private estate on this side of the bay. It consists of fourteen acres at the head of Claremont avenue and is beautifully wooded with native oaks, the rarest trees, shrubs and flowers. The garden has had the most careful attention for nearly thirty years and as a result the grounds rival those of Del Monte. This property was purchased by Louis Titus of Berkeley from Mr. Ballard for $42,500.

That price was an exceedingly low one. Already Mr. Titus has had an offer of a substantial advance over the purchase price, but he proposes to turn the property over to the hotel company that is to be organized.

TO ORGANIZE COMPANY.

There is to be no brokerage stocks, no commissions, no rake-off connected with the enterprise. Every dollar subscribed is to be for the hotel. It is proposed to organize a company to be known as "The Claremont Hotel Company," with a capital stock of $300,000. Subscriptions are to be binding when stock to the amount of $200,000 has been taken. It is expected to spend at least a quarter of a million on the hotel itself.

It will be so built that if the enterprise proves as successful as it is expected to, it can be readily increased in size. There need be no argument on the question of the benefits that will accrue to Alameda county from such an enterprise. Every town in Southern California is testimony to the value of a tourist hotel of the first order. With a population of one million about San Francisco bay and with tens of thousands of pleasure seekers who make an annual pilgrimage to California, there is no question that an enterprise of this kind will be a success from its inception.

WILL BE PATRONIZED.

Hotel men who have been consulted in San Francisco and Southern California express the opinion that 250 rooms can be kept filled the year round. It is proposed to make the enterprise largely a public one. The Berkeley Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night appointed a committee of five to secure subscriptions and the Berkeley Real Estate Exchange will take up the matter next week. A special meeting of the Oakland Board of Trade has been called for Saturday afternoon to consider the enterprise, and it is expected they will give it their hearty support.

MAYOR MOTT IS RECOVERING

Mayor Frank K. Mott, who slipped and fell yesterday on the sidewalk, wrenching his spine, passed a good night and is reported to be recovering rapidly from his injury. There were no complications and Dr. E. N. Ewer, the attending physician, believes his patient will be able to resume his duties by next Monday at least.

PLAN NEW ELECTRIC ROAD

VALLEJO, Cal., November 24.—A new electric road is planned to be 150 miles long, running from Vallejo to Benicia, Cordelia, Suisun, Fairfield, Vacaville, Dixon and Winters with a branch from Suisun to Rio Vista. The line is to be built on the county road. It is said that $3,000,000 has been promised for investment in the road, the work on which, it is stated, will be started in the first of next year. The franchise is for fifty years. The terminus, car shops and offices of the road will be in Vallejo. Los Angeles, New York and Vallejo capitalists are interested in the road.

AGED WOMAN PRAISES HIM

NASHVILLE, Tenn., November 24.—The venerable Mrs. G. M. Goodlett of this city, honorary president and founder of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, has sent the following telegram to her young kinsman, Minor Meriwether, the midshipman who is now undergoing a court-martial in connection with his encounter with Branch:

"To Midshipman Meriwether, Annapolis, Md.—The blood of your revolutionary ancestors would have risen up against you had you done otherwise than accept the challenge of Midshipman Branch.

"CAROLINE MERIWETHER GODLETT."

Midshipman Meriwether is a near relative of Mrs. Goodlett.

TALKING VS. ACTING

Richard Mansfield Speaks to University of California Students.

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—All the University of California turned out yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Harmon Gymnasium to hear Richard Mansfield speak a word for the National Theater. The subject of the great actor's discourse was, "Talking versus Acting," and he handled the theme with a touch which was surprising, coming from a man not supposed to be a trained lecturer. He had his huge college audience as thoroughly at his command as when playing any of the roles that have made him famous, swinging it easily from the lightest of railway to the most eloquent of pleading. The cheers which greeted him as he closed his address were significant of the impression he had made.

Professor William Dillingham, chairman of the musical and dramatic committee, with Prentiss N. Gray, president of the associated students, sat on the platform, with the distinguished guest, Professor Mansfield. Mansfield, who is, sincerely in his opinion, "the foremost actor on the English-speaking stage," spoke regretfully of the enforced absence of President Wheeler.

After remarking on the enthusiasm displayed in the stage at the University of California, Mr. Mansfield went on to say, "Nor is the stage likely to die of neglect anywhere. But, at this moment, it cannot be denied that the stage is drifting somewhat hither and thither. Every breath of air and every current of public opinion impels it first in one direction and then in another. At one moment we have the old melodrama of the English society drama, or we are sluggishly rolling along in a heavy ground swell propelled by a passing cat's paw of revivals of the old melodrama. Again we have a very faint northerly breeze from the east or a southeasterly breeze from the west, and we are being blown hither and thither. Sometimes we set our sails to woo that ever clearing breeze of Shakespeare, only to be forced out of our course by a sputter of rain, as Irish wit and half a squall from George Bernard Shaw, but the greater part of the time the ship of the stage is careening wildly under bare poles with a man lashed to the helm and let us hope that the day may come when wool in his ears before a hurricane of comic opera."

Mr. Mansfield then stated that the public was to blame. He urged a national theater, a recognized stage and a recognized school. "America has become too great, and its influence abroad too large, for us to afford to have recourse to that ancient and easy method of criticism which carries the American and extols the foreign."

In speaking of the frequent comparison between the actor of old times and of to-day, "as far as artistic atmosphere and a literary culture may be concerned, the actor of to-day is to be pitied, for he has no one to eat his heart out in solitude. Where and from whom can he draw his inspiration? In the days of Garrick those men who wrote plays came with bated breath and bated breath and bated breath and bated breath. Mr. Garrick to accept their work. To-day? We look around a vast plain of emptiness, and if upon the horizon we discern the nebulous figure of a nascent dramatist, we crawl to him and pull him by a sucking bottle of dramatic buttermilk, we crawl to his feet and implore him to bestow upon us, regardless of cost, one drop of the precious nectar."

But Mr. Mansfield asserted that it had bankrupted Sir Henry Irving to give his plays the staging required. Such extravagance he deprecated. "Loads of money will make productions, but they won't make actors."

He then bitterly rebuked those actors who debased the public and themselves by presenting degrading plays. "We may as well go to the theatre to see a circus, and some bad sewers. That is the truth. But because it is the truth, there is no need to exhibit them upon the stage. There are other means of eradicating such evils. The stage is neither a police court nor a hospital. Both are, unfortunately, necessary to mankind, but they are not necessary upon the stage. The loftiest aim of the pulpit and the stage is to teach us to be better, and, consequently, to be happier, but neither a church congregation nor a theater audience is to be improved by or should be asked to endure the distressing details of brutal, vulgar and disgusting vice."

Enlarging upon his scheme for a national theater, Mr. Mansfield recited the advantages of having it the arbiter of correct language and pronunciation and speech. "As for the practical side of an established theater, I am absolutely convinced that the national theater could be established in this country on a practical and paying basis; and not only on a paying basis, but upon a profitable basis. But under no circumstances must it be a national theater be made an object of personal or industrial profit. Nor can it be a scheme for the exploitation of a social or literary fad. The national theater must be given by the people to the people and be governed by the people."

BISHOP SECURES NEW PLAYS

SIGNS CONTRACT WITH SCHUBERTS FOR ALL BIG PRODUCTIONS.

Harry W. Bishop returned yesterday from New York and reports a pleasant trip. He saw all of the new productions and has brought home many new ideas. He has also brought contracts for a number of the big Eastern successes and a list of fine plays is promised the patrons of his various theaters.

A piece of news of much interest to the theatergoers of the bay cities is that he has signed a contract with the Schuberts whereby he will play all of the big independent attractions at his Majestic Theater next season. These will include Mrs. Fiske, all of the Belasco productions—Mrs. Carter, David Warfield and Minnie Bates and the Shubert companies.

Mr. Bishop will put workmen into his new Central Theater in San Francisco, and, consequently, to be better equipped, and some important changes made on the stage. A fine system of

PLAY AT YE LIBERTY IS PLEASING MANY

"The District Attorney," which is a pleasing good-sized audience at Ye Liberty Theater this week, is the joint production of Harrison Grey Fiske, editor and publisher of the New York Mirror, and Charles Klein, author of "The Music Master," in which David Warfield is playing his second year at the Bijou Theater, New York City.

The District Attorney is a very strong drama of American political life and is intensely interesting to both men and women. The climax of the third act, in the lawyer's office, in which David Warfield is playing his second year at the Bijou Theater, New York City.

Every part is a strong one and the presentation of it by Mr. Bishop's company is most excellent. Mr. Neil plays the title role with the manly grace and earnestness with which he always endows his characters. Mrs. Neil plays the wife, who is the unsuspicious daughter of the contractor who goes wrong, with that finish and conscientiousness which characterizes all of this talented lady's endeavors. Frank MacVicar gives a very forceful portrayal of "Matthew Brainerd," the wealthy but weak contractor. Orval Humphrey makes one of the distinct hits of the piece in his rendition of "Frank Plerson," the young man who is sent to prison and wronged by Brainerd. Lots of strong situations should not miss "The District Attorney" this week.

JEWEL THIEF HAS ACCOMPLICE

FRANCIS T. SARGENT OF POINT RICHMOND MAKES FURTHER CONFESSION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Francis T. Sargent, the Point Richmond Jeweler, who a few days ago, confessed to the theft of $12,000 worth of diamonds and other valuables from a number of wholesale houses in San Francisco, yesterday confessed to Detective O'Dea and Ryan that he had an accomplice in his thieving operations, and that this man had probably gotten away with more plunder than he had.

The method used by Sargent and his accomplice was to enter the store selected for a raid, and while one engaged the attention of the clerk in a particular department the other did the stealing. They played the part of strangers to each other, and took turns in the stealing.

The man who is believed to have been working with Sargent is known as Frank Dodge. He is described as a man of stocky, medium build with red hair and a mustache.

After being questioned yesterday by the police, Sargent admitted the theft of $12,000 worth of diamonds from C. W. Lawrence, the drummer, who gave an exhibition in the Palace Hotel last September. Lawrence called at the Point Richmond store in order to sell some of his goods, and while showing some magnificent Sargent stole six diamond rings.

He stated that at the same time he bought some for appearance sake.

He told the police that the jewels were now in possession of R. P. Trull, a Santa Fe station agent at Point Richmond, where he left them to be cared for. Trull had no knowledge that the package contained stolen jewelry, Sargent said.

The detective think that Sargent will admit stealing from other stores besides those named.

Sargent will not be arraigned until Saturday and possibly not until next week, as further developments are looked for. Since his arrest last Tuesday, Sargent has tried in every way possible to get possession of a revolver so that he might end his life, and a close watch has to be kept on him.

Many of the Point Richmond believe that Sargent has been used as a tool and are convinced that a stronger mind than his planned all the numerous thefts.

OAKLAND RESIDENT BADLY INJURED

EUREKA, Nov. 24.—With her bulwarks smashed in and her messroom and staterooms flooded, the steamer North Fork put into port yesterday morning after having had a close call from destruction on the bar, which has been practically unavailing for the past week.

The North Fork was well in when an immense sea broke full on her stern. The bulwarks were washed away in a twinkling and the waters rushed into the dining room and galley flooding the compartments to the depth of three feet. Fortunately the steamer was able to continue despite the pounding she had received, but by all hands it was considered a narrow escape. Shortly following the accident Steward D. M. Lake of Oakland, while walking on the main room, fell through an open hatch and all the ribs on his right side were broken.

COLONEL LYNCH IS HELD TO ANSWER

The preliminary hearing of Colonel Frank Lynch, formerly editor of the Fruitvale News, was concluded before Judge Quinn yesterday. He was charged with criminal libel, preferred by E. L. Blackman, a wood and coal dealer of Fruitvale. Lynch was held to answer charge, and his bond was fixed at $500. Some time ago, Blackman alleged, Lynch published an article which reflected upon the character of Blackman and his wife.

LAST HOPE HAS DISAPPEARED

GEORGE D. COLLINS MUST STAND TRIAL ON PERJURY CHARGES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—George D. Collins must stand his trial on the perjury charge on which he was extradited. His last technical objection has failed and yesterday he entered his plea of "not guilty" before Judge Lennon, sitting in Judge Lawlor's court. Collins was in court for half an hour before the Judge came in. He spent the time talking with his friend Krouse.

In rendering his decision on the demurrer, the Judge said in part:

"As I said, before, I am determined to sustain this indictment if it can be done legally. After consideration I am prepared to hold that it can. It was unduly hastily drawn. There was little time for artistic work. But in my opinion it is sufficient. Section 36 of the Penal Code says that 'in an indictment for perjury it is sufficient to set forth the substance of the controversy, but the indictment need not set forth the pleadings with which the oath is connected.' In People against Mahoney the decision says that if the indictment describes the crime in the language of the statute it is sufficient. The demurrer is overruled."

Collins, greatly disappointed, was still ready with another motion. This time he moved to stay the proceedings on the ground that the Canadian warrant of commitment had stated that the perjury had occurred in testimony, while the indictment said it was in the answer. The Judge immediately denied the motion.

Collins' last hope of evading trial was gone and he said: "Then I plead not guilty, without prejudice to the various motions to quash, set aside and overrule the indictment." He enumerated them all, and it made the longest plea of not guilty on record. Then he was asked to do it again, after a proper question by the clerk. Collins objected, but the Court said:

"I am trying to be as technical as you are, sir."

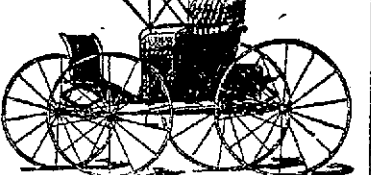

Collins then asked for sixty days' time to file a bill of exceptions to the various rulings overruling his motions. The Court thought the usual ten-day period would be sufficient. Judge Lennon then said that he would set a day for the beginning of the trial on Saturday morning.

HALF MOON BAY

will in six months from now be the liveliest youngster of all the young cities in California, where cities and values grow faster than anywhere else on the globe. 600 people, numbering among them some of the State's shrewdest business men, have evidenced their faith in Half Moon Bay by purchasing lots there within the last 60 days. These people intend to build either permanent or summer homes there within the next six months. People who have seen other beach resorts grow with the advent of electric roads, are getting in to Half Moon Bay now. Upon completion of the Ocean Shore electric road next June we will be just 40 minutes from the center of San Francisco as against half a day at the present time. Then property will jump to double its present value.

If you will stop just for a moment to consider what an enormous saving of time this will mean, you cannot help but realize that such an improvement would immensely increase the value of property in any community. Then consider, the fact that Half Moon Bay is absolutely the only place within reach of San Francisco where a beach resort can be built, and you have a combination of circumstances that conspire to make Half Moon Bay either for a home or as an investment, far and away the best proposition on the Market today.

Your money will not grow in your pocket, and it won't grow very fast in the bank, but if you will invest NOW at Half Moon Bay, it will double in six months.

You can buy NOW, large lots, 50x150 fronting on broad avenues within a stone's throw of the beach and two minutes walk from the station for from $200.00 to $500.00. The same lots 30 days later will cost you more.

WIFE GIVES HER EXCUSE FOR STAYING OUT AT NIGHT

Mrs. H. L. McKinney, Declares Accident and Not Elopement Caused Trouble.

Editor OAKLAND TRIBUNE—Dear Sir: I wish to furnish you with a bit of information which I hope you will publish, with reference to myself and an article published in your paper of November 22, 1905.

I left home Monday afternoon, November 20, to come down town, with the intention of returning home in a couple of hours.

After leaving the car a few paces, I stumbled, being in haste, and struck my head against something, which rendered me unconscious. Some one picked me up and carried me into a nearby house, where I was administered to by a kind lady.

When I regained consciousness and received an explanation of what had occurred, I attempted to pursue my way, when I found, however, that I was not quite able to do so. The lady insisted on my remaining a while longer, and administered some home remedies. I felt better and said that I would make my way down to my mother's, as it was then getting late.

GROWS ILL AGAIN.

I reached my mother's home and stated that I was not feeling well. After staying a short time I said that I felt better and would go. She offered to go with me, but I thought I could get to my husband's place of business and go out with him.

I started to walk from my mother's to my husband's place, and on the way I stopped to get some medicine, feeling that the distance I had already gone had fatigued me.

After taking the medicine I grew worse and felt as though I would faint. The distance being a little too far for me to reach in order to go to my mother's or my husband's place, I concluded to step into a house, which I did, and explained that I had taken sick on my way up town. I then fainted.

GREATLY EXCITED.

Of course, I was then detained there until Tuesday morning. When I realized that I had been away from home so long, and especially all night, I was very much excited and nervous.

Believing that my husband would be very angry with me, and would believe that it was some sort of a plan, I decided I would not go home until I heard from him.

I sent a message to my mother to "know nothing about me if anyone inquired until I saw her."

In the meantime my husband went to the house to find out my whereabouts, and feeling that something was wrong, she could not tell him. She told him she knew nothing about me.

"ACTED FOOLISH."

Afterward I saw her and explained. She said that I had acted very foolish, and that my husband was very much excited and, of course, I became more excited, and concluded the best thing to do would be to remain away until everything was quiet.

But, finding that the predicament could not be made better, and receiving word not to be seen by him again, I despaired of an amendment of matters.

My mother always tried to advise me to do what was right, and would never uphold me in the wrong.

I am very sorry that such an insignificant accident should cause such a notorious sensation and disgrace upon the name of my family, but it has always been my misfortune to have any mistake or accident which might have happened to me magnified to a great degree.

CAUSES REGRET.

The occurrence of yesterday, which took place on the county road near the home of which The Call speaks in an article dated November 24, is much to be regretted by myself and mother, as it might have been avoided.

My husband came upon us as we were conversing near the office and insisted that I go home and talk with him, but knowing his uncontrollable temper, if he gets an idea that I am in the wrong, and his inability to discuss matters without being overcome with excitement, I demanded that he should say what he desired to, there.

After refusing to go, and seeing that I was about to board a car, he snatched some jewelry and my hat from me, tearing the latter to pieces. My mother thought he intended doing me bodily harm, and only wished to protect me, so she fired the shot into the air to frighten him. She did not wish to hurt him.

MRS. H. L. MCKINNEY.

HUSBAND'S EXPERIENCE.

H. L. McKinney, who has his place of business at 462 Ninth street, had an exciting experience yesterday morning, when his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Patton, fired three shots at him, none of which, however, took effect.

Mrs. McKinney, the wife of Mr. McKinney, eloped from her home in Elmhurst several days ago with a man by the name of John Pharr, says her husband. At the time of her disappearance she told a neighbor that she and her mother were going to the theater in San Francisco with a friend, and would return about 7 o'clock, but she failed to return home.

Yesterday morning she returned to her home. Mr. McKinney had heard that she was coming home and waited for her.

When she found that her husband was home she started to leave the place, and he followed her. When they reached the corner of Walter avenue and the San Leandro road in front of the real estate office of Porterfield, McKinney snatched a pin on his wife's waist and took a watch from her.

As he did this, Mrs. Patton, his wife's mother, who had been following them, drew a pistol from a satchel and fired three shots, none of which took effect.

LABOR UNION MATTERS

DISCUSSION AMONG THE TYPOGRAPHICAL LOCALS—NEWS NOTES.

Typographical Union No. 21 of San Francisco shows a great desire to follow in the footsteps of the British National Federation of Unionists, and to some extent bar holders of political office from participation in delegate bodies of trade unions. It made a strenuous fight for the adoption of this principle in the last meeting of the California State Federation of Labor, at Bakersfield. It lost there, after a most brilliant debate, President Cornelius of the Car Men's Union in San Francisco being among the supporters of the adoption of the principle.

In a circular which it is presumed is being sent to all local unions in the State affiliated with the State Federation, Typographical Union No. 21 is now presenting the matter again in the shape of a resolution relating that persons holding political offices, even though they be members in good standing of labor unions, should be debarred from holding office in federate or delegate bodies representing local unions, asking local unions to instruct their delegates to the meeting of the California State Federation in Oakland to support such a resolution there, and local unions are now voting on the typographical union's proposition. Mr. Cornelius, though he favored it last year, is now opposed to it, and the Car Men's Union of San Francisco has voted down the proposition to instruct its delegates in accordance with the typographical wishes. What is its reason for the course it has chosen to take now is not known here, but some of the best known men in the labor movement in Alameda county, who have also previously been in favor of the typographical union's proposition, are also now against it, on the ground that it does not go far enough; that to exclude holders of political offices, no matter how good union men they may otherwise be, from holding office in federate or delegate bodies, is merely to make so fine a distinction as would cause endless trouble without doing any real good.

The report of the annual meeting of the national federation of labor societies in Great Britain, printed in a recent number of the Labor Clarion of San Francisco, gives a very interesting resume of the history of action on this question in that country, the outcome of which has been the full exclusion of political office holders from delegate bodies in that country, this result being brought about, in a very large degree, by the voluntary action of such men as John Burns, who, though unionists of the first class, had ceased to be practical workers at their trades and were holders of political office, though they were using their powers in those spheres for unions in the highest sense. Burns voluntarily resigned his position in trades union delegate bodies, saying that he thought the general movement was wise.

BATTLED WITH CONVICTS

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 24.—At 3.15 o'clock this afternoon eight or ten convicts at the State Penitentiary suddenly mutinied and shot Guards Barney Ellis and Charles Flay, killing them instantly. The suddenness of the mutiny temporarily paralyzed prison discipline and before any attempt to subdue the mutins could be made the mutineers had exploded dynamite under the prison gates leading out into the public street.

Deputy Warden See at the same time fell probably mortally wounded by a bullet. Prison officials succeeded in preventing the escape of all but four of the desperate convicts.

These four gained the street, sprang into a passing wagon, knocked the driver from his seat and then miraculously escaping a fusillade of bullets, dashed the horse into full speed right through the residence portion of Jefferson City.

Officers from the penitentiary, armed with rifles, pursued and at the edge of town overtook the escaping desperadoes.

A battle ensued and three of the convicts were shot dead, the fourth escaping into the wooded country. Posses formed immediately and began a search through the woods, determined to take the convict dead or alive.

Warden Hall and five officers of the penitentiary were absent from the prison, having departed early in the day for the Government prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas accompanying a special train, transferring 71 Federal prisoners to Fort Leavenworth.

Official Figures Just Issued Show a Marked Improvement in Trade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The commerce of the United States with its non-contiguous territory in 1905 seems likely to exceed by many million dollars that of any preceding year, according to a statement issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its bureau of statistics.

The bureau's nine months' statement, ending with September, shows that the shipments from the United States to its non-contiguous territory amounted to $36,655,174, against $29,929,079 in the corresponding months of the preceding year, and that the shipments of merchandise to the United States from its non-contiguous territory in the same period amounted to $86,500,160 against $71,171,038 in the corresponding months of the preceding year.

territory to the United States there was an increase of about $50,000,000 from Porto Rico, or over $1,000,000 from the Philippine Islands, and about $12,000,000 from the Hawaiian Islands.

MAKES COMPARISONS.

The statement makes comparisons of the contrast in the trade of the United States with its non-contiguous territory in the same period, prior to annexation. In the nine months ending September, 1897, the year prior to the annexation of Porto Rico, the United States shipped to that island to the United States amounted to $1,767,028, as against $16,121,000 in 1905.

In the nine months of 1897 the shipments from the Hawaiian Islands to the United States amounted to $13,744,253, as against $1,096,000 in 1905. Shipments from the Philippines for the nine months of '97 amounted to $3,862,000 as against $1,200,000 in 1905. Shipments from Porto Rico from the United States com-

MERCHANDISE ONLY.

The figures given relate to merchandise only and do not include the gold and silver bullion and coins imported from Alaska to the United States were only $200,000 of gold produced in that Territory in 1907, and the gold shipped from Alaska being re-embarked that year in British territory adjacent to the coast.

In merchandise shipped from Alaska to the United States there is a falling off of $1,000,000 as compared with the year with the previous year. In shipments from the United States there was a falling off of $1,000,000 to Porto Rico and $1,000,000 to the Philippines and nearly $1,000,000 to the Hawaiian Islands, and about $1,000,000 to the contiguous States.

The nine months of 1897 were $1,000,000 against $11,486,000 in 1905, and the nine months of 1898 were $3,766,258 against $3,908,049 in 1905, and those to the Hawaiian Islands in 1897 $64,600 against $4,485,500 in 1905.

TOTAL COMMERCE

The estimate is made that the total commerce with the non-contiguous territories of the United States is approximately $135,000,000. The shipments of sugar from the Hawaiian Islands for the year 1906 were valued at $10,000,000, amounted to $23,115,471 of raw sugar and $1,752,721 of refined sugar.

Shipments of sugar to the Philippines, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska include practically all the articles of general character which are exported from the United States except to other countries.

DOUGHERTY MASSACRE SENTENCED IS FEARED

Porte's Reply Contains Veiled Threats For Christians.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24.—Newton C. Dougherty has pleaded guilty to five of the forgery charges against him and will be taken to the Joliet penitentiary either tonight or tomorrow. He appeared before Judge Worthington today, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of 24 months in the penitentiary. Each of the five counts, the same to be concurrent.

When the prisoner, accompanied by W. T. Irwin, one of his attorneys, his son Ralph and a deputy sheriff, left the jail for the courtroom, Dougherty said to the writer:

"I guess I'll have to do it." In the courtroom there were 200 spectators. Attorney Irwin addressed the court and Dougherty turned all of his property over to him and that he (Irwin) had been given the right of all the Dougherty real estate. The prosecutor then asked that Dougherty's property would amount to more than the amount of the forfeitures. He admitted that Dougherty had been careless and that he stood willing to take his punishment.

Judge Worthington then said to the jury and it necessary to send him to the penitentiary as the law provides it will be a severe punishment.

The sentence of 24 months confinement in the penitentiary at Joliet for an indefinite term, not less than one year, more than three years, was pronounced. The same sentence, of 240 243 and 244 the same sentence. That is all.

After the judge was speaking Dougherty looked straight ahead of him and did not move a muscle. He said nothing and when the judge finished speaking he was taken back to jail escorted by his attorneys.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24, via Sofia, Bulgaria.—The Porte's reply to the demands of the powers is not only a categorical rejection of the demands but contains the veiled threats that the pressure of Europe will possibly excite the Turkish population to reprisals on the Christians. The communication states that the Turkish Government is absolutely impossible to accept financial control of Macedonia, as it would violate the Sultan's sovereignty. After agreeing to the prolongation of the Commission, the Porte insists the notables of the provinces must be consulted in order to compel the acceptance of the control scheme the Imperial Government might recommend. The Porte also suggests which may arise from the discontent among the public. The powers are considering the question of increasing the number of their guardians here to protect the rights of the Christians. Baron Marshall von Bieberstein, the German Ambassador, has also suggested that the authorities take the advisability of accepting the powers' demands into the province's disagreements and consequences.

RACE ENTRIES

BERKELEY, Jan. 24—President Benjamin F. Wheeler returned from the East last night and today addressed the student body at the university meeting held in Harmon Gymnasium. Football was discussed by President Wheeler, who spoke of Professor Howison, who created a sensation a week ago by declaring that football players and football referees trained him of pigs wallowing in the mire.

President Wheeler does not agree with Professor Howison. He aroused the student body to great excitement by declaring that he was declaring that football was a game he very much disliked to lose. His

President Wheeler does not agree with Professor Howison. He aroused the student body to great excitement this morning when he was declaring that football was the game he very much disliked to lose. His address to the students was in part as follows:

"I observed while in the East on the day after the great football game between the University and Stanford that the tavern piers made no mention whatever of the result. Columns were printed about the football game in the East, but that day did not record of the Berkeley-Stanford game. That impressed me with a great goal; there is between the East and the West a great chasm. I saw that the East was not far away. I heard a great deal about football, and some of the discussions related to it were of a high quality, and some proposed the abolition of the game entirely.

"Football, I think, is too good a game to be lost, and I do not agree with Professor Howison with whom the game is in disfavor. They are discussing the game all over the country, and it appears that the game is the national proposition, and the future, I think, is for it to be highly developed and spread over the country. I do not think we have to be in an artificial state of preservation to play the game as it is played in the East. It can be an easy, as I like the game. Nobody ever intended it should be that kind of a game.

"I am opposed to football on the ground that it was rough but that it is in the sphere of usefulness of the ordinary citizen. I am not a sportsman, but a gentleman and knows how to play the game. The great trouble is that the game is in the hands of sportsmen, sportsmen organized committee of associates. I refer to Walter Camp and his associates. Last year this committee was in the position to adopt rules for an open game. The matter was discussed a deadlock resulted and as a consequence the game was bound with that great restriction. The result is that in all probability there will be a new rules com-

Ole Olsen, an electrical inventor and machinist, who resides at 230 Telegraph boulevard, reported to the police this morning that his wife had left him yesterday, taking with her their two children, Olga, aged 10 years and Adolph, aged 7 years. Olsen knows for his wife deserting him is that she occupied living in rooms in the rear of his shop. The husband further stated in his notice that his wife is largely responsible for the disappearance of his wife. "Mrs. Bessie Baker," says Olsen, "has made much to do with her children and I have not been able to talk to her she would come back to me. Yesterday, she came with Policeman Murray and took the two children away from me. I have seen her before. She must have fallen under some strange influence or she would never have left me."

Hard Aground on Sandbar; Passengers Are Still Aboard.

HOLLAND, Mich., November 24—During a terrific storm on Lake Michigan last night the passenger steamer Argos of the Graham and Morton Transportation Company was driven ashore on the north of the North Pier and all efforts to release her have up to this time been futile.

The boat is in great danger of being pounded to pieces. Owing to the heavy sea which is rolling it is impossible for the life saving crew to reach the steamer. The life saving crew may be taken care of the breeches buoy.

The boat carries a crew of twenty-two men and a life saving crew on board.

Another Graham & Morton steamer from Benton Harbor is on the way to Holland.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24—The officials of the Graham & Morton Transportation Company claim that the Argos was driven ashore as passengers were taken off by the breeches buoy.

At 10 o'clock the cable used to haul the breeches buoy broke, fortunately, while the vessel was being hauled back to the steamer for another passenger.

At the time this accident occurred there were seven passengers and the crew of twenty-two men remaining on the boat.

The life saving crew, when the buoy line broke, realizing the peril of the situation, again took to the surf-boats in a desperate effort to reach the stricken steamer. The running mountain high and it is no thought the life savers will succeed.

Wife Says Better For On to Die Than Five be Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Virginia De Paoli, the murderer's wife, attempted a defense of the awful deed to the arresting officers.

"Ain't it better," she said, "for him to kill one than for her to kill the five of us?"

102 "Why did your husband kill the 103 woman?" was asked.
104 "Oh, she had power. You bet you
105 life she had power. More power than

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—After being out twelve minutes, the jury in the case of John W. Finley, a Folsom prison convict, charged with conspiring to escape at noon today brought in a verdict finding him guilty as charged. He was sentenced a life term for robbery and under the law, when such a prisoner is found guilty of attempting to escape, he must die on the gallows. Finley was one of the ringleaders of a gang of desperate convicts who led a riot at the prison here about a year ago and threatened to murder officers who were in their way. Two other convicts are yet to be tried for conspiracy.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—Frederick L. Ferrer, charged with battery by Elmo Cleveland, who says that he brutally attacked Ferrer, appeared before Judge C. W. McCord, appeared before Judge C. W. McCord this morning and surrendered himself. A warrant was served upon him by Detective Brown.

He entered a plea of not guilty to having a jury trial. At the defense request the case was continued to next Monday. Ferrer says that he is a juror in the United States Circuit Court in San Francisco, in Judge J. W. Lewis' department, and that he will be unable to be in this city for several days.

Wife Re-Locates Spouse Only to be Threatened With Divorce Proceedings.

About twelve years ago, the wife and mother in the home of William Wallace, a carpenter residing in East Oakland, it is said, suddenly disappeared and the husband and father was left alone to provide and care for a son of about 6 years of age, and another son, a babe about 16 months old.

Where the mother had gone, what had become of her, the husband and father could not ascertain.

Yesterday, however, the missing woman learned the whereabouts of the abandoned husband, who is still a resident of this city, and the husband ascertained that his runaway spouse is now domiciled in Santa Ana in this State family around here."

WIFE'S IDENTITY.

Wallace was then shown the letter of inquiry and asked if he knew the writer.

"She's my wife," was the reply, "or she used to be. She ran away from my home in Santa Ana about twenty years ago, leaving me with a boy 6 years old and a baby of only 16 months I

DIVORCE IN SIGHT.
The discovery will lead to a divorce suit, which will be filed by the offended husband.

The discovery was made through a letter received by W. R. Thomas of this city, in which there was inquiry as to whether or not the wife of one of the whereabouts of William B. Wallace. The writer claimed to be the wife of the man in question, and she further asserted that she had been married to him for over her children since he left her about twelve years ago. The query was coupled with a reference to the fact that she was now in California, and would be able to appreciate the solicitude of the mother under the circumstances.

Wallace had nothing to do with her, and now that I know where she is I am going to get a divorce from her. She is 6 years of age is now 18 years old, and is working near Livermore, and the babe of 16 months is now attending the Lincoln school.

INTIMATION OF COMPANY.
Wallace intimated that his alleged recent spouse had not been unattended in her escapade and that since her departure she had exercised maternal care over the child that was not a member of his family.

The friends of Wallace in Santa Ana have been written to and requested to inform the husband of the conditions surrounding the mother for the coming of the child.

The fair charmer who captivated the police officer was evidently not all that she claimed.

When making an engagement to meet the man at the residence of Mr. Peterson, she openly admitted that she resided at the residence of Mr. Peterson, when as a resident of this city she did not live in the city at all.

It was this deceit which brought about the arrest of the woman, but it did not become misinformed as to the residence of his victim when he had met the night before.

of his admiration for her had bought a smitten and not burglariously inclined. After being put through a severe cross-examination he was allowed to go.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—"Personally, the success Mr. Hearst will be distasteful to me, as it will be to most of his counsel," said August G. Fox, counsel for W. R. Hearst, in an argument before Justice Amend in the Supreme Court today on Mr. Hearst's effort to open up the election of the county city clerk for a recount. "I supposed that this action was in the interest of the people of the city for honest elections," continued Fox, "but now I am changed in my opinion, by all means near it now."

The first real test of the question whether or not there shall be a recount came today. When the case was opened before Justice Amend, Alton B. Tucker, assistant district attorney, for the presidency and counsel for Mayor McClellan, objected to taking the case before Justice Gleason, who presides over the appeals to the appellate division of the Supreme Court for a decision as to which justice should hear the argument.

SUDDEN DEATH GATEMAN KILLED 1 KILLED, 5 HURT OF JEWELER BY TRAIN IN WRECK

HENRY A. TREAGER PASSES AWAY WHILE IN ACT OF DRESSING.

DAVID MURRAY, FATHER OF POLICEMAN MURRAY, LOSES HIS LIFE.

REAR-END COLLISION OF FREIGHTS ON PENNSYLVANIA ROAD.

Henry A. Treager, the well known jeweler, who has been located in business at 862 Washington street for eleven years past, died suddenly this morning at 8 o'clock, apparently from heart disease, from which he has been a sufferer for many years past. He complained of being ill during last night and some physicians were called in, but it seems their efforts were in vain to save his life, although the doctors did not expect an immediate demise or that his condition was in any way serious. Mr. Treager had just risen from bed this morning and was in the act of dressing himself when he suddenly expired. He fell to the floor, exclaiming at the time to his devoted son, Jacob, that he felt very dizzy and could not stand up.

The deceased was a native of Roumania, and was 73 years of age. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Beaudry & McAvoy's Undertaking Parlor, 875 Washington street.

He leaves but one surviving child—a son—Jacob—who has conducted the business in conjunction with his father. He has the sympathy in his bereavement of a legion of friends and acquaintances.

David Murray, father of Policeman John Murray, who has been employed for many years by the Southern Pacific Company as a gateman, was struck and instantly killed at the mole last night about 8 o'clock by a switch engine.

While walking among the trains, and unconscious of any danger, he walked directly in front of a swiftly moving switch engine. The engineer did not notice him until it was too late, and before the engine could be stopped he was a terribly mangled mass of lifeless humanity.

Mr. Murray, who was 70 years of age, has been in the employ of the company for the last thirty years. It is thought that his constant association with the danger had at last rendered him forgetful of its presence, and thus he walked into the jaws of destruction.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 24.—One trainman was killed and five others injured in a wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Thompsonstown today. The wreck was caused by a rear-end collision between two freight trains going west. The mail train leaving Harrisburg at 4:40 a. m. ran into the wreckage, blocking four tracks and delaying traffic several hours.

All the coaches of the mail train were wrecked but no damage was done to the mail.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN IRON FOUNDRY

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 24.—A fire early today practically destroyed the big plant of the T. H. Brooks foundry company, manufacturers of structural iron. Loss, $100,000. The plant of the Oils Steel Company was also damaged to the extent of $10,000.

GAINS IN STRENGTH.

TOKIO, Nov. 24.—The agitation against the government for its non-abrogation of martial law and its suppression of the liberties of the press, is gaining strength. Many sympathizers with the opposition party have been found, even among members of the House of Peers.

Oakland Leads in Sanitary BUTTER MAKING

"Over in Oakland there is a creamery, probably the only one in the State, that uses distilled water for washing and working their butter. Now, we have no data as to whether this pays in actual practice—we don't know to just what expense they are compelled to go to make distilled water, but we don't believe the cost is very high. At any rate, the principle of the thing is so good that we want to call every buttermaker's attention to it."

"When they wash the butter they are proceeding on good sanitary and scientific principles. Too many creameries go to the trouble of destroying the bacteria in the cream and then turn around and introduce a whole lot of others through the wash water. But the use of distilled water is sure to be absolutely pure and there need be no fear of contaminating an otherwise good piece of butter."—Dairy and Produce Journal, November 2d.

Mora Moss, a handsome leather bag, Mrs. S. M. Henshaw, an Indian silver box and Mrs. Allen, an Indian face handkerchief.

At 8:30 o'clock the bridal party appeared. Two little nephews of the bride, John and James Palache, led the way as ribbon bearers, and little Helen Palache, a niece, scattered the pathway of the bride with blossoms. They were followed by Miss Julia Canavan, maid of honor. Then came the bride leaning on the arm of her father. Her bride robe was a creation of messaline silk, trimmed with gloriolence lace. Her long, tulle train was fastened with a tiny half-wealth of lilies of the valley.

The groom was attended by George Whipple as best man.

After the ceremony had pronounced the impressive words, the young couple turned to receive the congratulations of their friends and then led the way to the banquet room, where an elaborate supper was served. The Orange in Central California

"If orange growing 'has proved more remunerative' up North than it is down South, how happens it that the Northland markets about 2000 carloads of oranges annually, while the Southland markets 30,000 carloads?" asks the Los Angeles Herald in an article deriding orange-growing north of Tehachapi. The Los Angeles paper had its bile stirred by a paragraph in THE TRIBUNE calling attention to the fact that the group of counties around Sacramento always sends the first shipments of California oranges to market.

The Herald's question is a legitimate one, although not asked in good faith. Every person who has investigated the subject knows that the orange has been successfully grown as far north as Colusa and Oroville ever since the American occupation, but the inhabitants were so taken up with other pursuits that they made no attempt to go into orange-growing as an industry.

Besides, the conditions up to a quarter of a century ago did not favor it. Orange culture requires intensive cultivation, irrigation and an abundance of labor. Wheat-growing in the central counties was enormously profitable; it did not require irrigation, close cultivation or a large proportion of labor. It did not call into employment large capital and the returns were quick, while it did not call for the application of strict business principles or the study of the higher branches of horticulture.

With the counties south of Tehachapi the case was entirely different. The climate was not adapted to the profitable production of general crops, and forbade farming on a large scale unless irrigation was practiced. Irrigation was necessary to the development of the country. At the same time it compels intensive cultivation; the land must be made to yield high-priced crops if it is to pay the cost of tillage, the expense of irrigation and various other charges growing out of the colony system. The Southern Californians were driven to orange-growing because there was no other profitable crop they could produce on a large scale under the conditions existing below Tehachapi. It is the only crop that would furnish bulky overland freights for the railroads. Moreover, the orange carries a poetical suggestion, and is associated in the popular mind with a soft, warm climate.

Railroads and land speculators first began advertising the region around Los Angeles as a health resort, particularly for consumptives. They baited their advertisements with the orange and lemon. Weak-lunged people felt sure there was health where the orange grew, and homeseekers were lured by the glowing tales of the fortunes to be made in orange-growing. In consequence the country filled up with immigrants, and growing oranges became the chief agricultural pursuit.

No similar conditions or set of circumstances turned popular attention in the central counties to the culture of the orange. The value of that fruit as an advertisement was appreciated even less in this section of the State than its value as a money crop.

The wheat growers spoke of orange-growing and irrigation with contempt, and went on with their old slipshod methods of farming, with gang plows and tramp labor till persistent cropping sterilized the once matchless fertility of the soil and the downward trend of grain prices forced them to turn their attention to other crops. Even then they preferred stone to citrus fruits, because they are more quickly grown and can be produced with little or no irrigation.

Only of late years have the farmers of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys come to realize the potentialities of irrigation and the agricultural and horticultural growth possible under intensive cultivation. With our enormous variety of production it is neither probable nor economically wise for the orange to be made the leading staple in this section of the State as it has been made in the extreme Southern counties, although the area of good orange land lying between Bakersfield and Tehama is treble the entire orange-bearing territory south of Tehachapi.

Such in brief are the reasons why orange production north of Tehachapi is so much more backward than it is south of that line of division. The facts are more to the credit of the soil and climate, we admit, than they are to the enterprise and perspicacity of our people, but they cannot be truthfully denied. We have slept on our opportunities, minimized the enterprise of our Southern neighbors, and ignored the value of the orange as a wealth-producer and as an attraction for the immigrant, to our own detriment, but fortunately we are not so dependent either on the immigrant or irrigation as they are down South. Nevertheless, this very good fortune has had a somewhat stagnating effect in localities and has caused the older strain of Californians to be neglectful of the boundless resources of their soil and climate.

From a serene contemplation of his congenial dance hall and alkali surroundings, which seem to be well fitted to adorn, the editor of the Bakersfield Californian delivers himself of a column diatribe on the alleged lack of progress of Oakland, which seems to have pretty much the same effect on the Bakersfield editor as the first train across the continent had on the untutored buffalo. Sandwiched in this chaste and scholarly effusion is a lecture on the amenities of journalism and a lesson on good manners for the edification and instruction of the editor of THE TRIBUNE, who is variously designated as an "unlearned boor," and a "penny-a-liner, who disgraces its (THE TRIBUNE'S) columns with a jumble of ideas couched in a jumble of words that would be creditable in an Arizona weekly." This is pretty hard, but it might be worse. We might be accused of falling to the level of the Bakersfield Californian.

After heroically pruning the division estimates, Mr. Cortelyou estimates the expense of the Postal Department for the ensuing year at the enormous sum of $193,000,000. This is $27,000,000 more than the cost of the department for last year. The item of rural delivery alone is $29,000,000, and it is one that will figure more largely in the estimates from year to year. But for the rural delivery system the Postal Department would be a source of revenue instead of an expense to the Government. Rural delivery has caused the abolition of four thousand fourth-class postoffices and sent the daily paper into places where it has heretofore been unknown. But it has put off indefinitely the time when the receipts of the Postal Department will meet the expense of conducting it. While the receipts are increasing rapidly the expense still maintains a good lead. In time, however, the income must overtake the outgo, unless the price of letter postage be reduced to one cent as has been suggested, or there is some amplification of the ocean mail service which will call for a heavy increase in expenditures.

An Atlanta paper says the South does not want the lower class of European immigrants. That's right; the South has too many poor whites now.

We are at a loss to understand why a number of our contemporaries should be badgering Senator Flint to define his position regarding the proposed railroad rate legislation. Do they desire to "stand him up" or are they desirous of putting him in "a hole"? Senator Flint has talked frankly about the matter and expressed himself as pointedly as the status of the proposed legislation warrants. What more can be fairly desired? No other Senator has expressed himself more freely or defined his position with greater certainty. Why, then, should Senator Flint, who is a new man in Congress, be interrogated, reinterrogated and cross-examined by the newspapers in order to get him to commit himself in regard to a measure that has not yet taken complete shape? In our opinion, Senator Flint is not being fairly treated. At any rate, he appears to have been singled out for a catechizing which his colleagues are either escaping or refusing to submit to.

The Fresno Republican asks Professor Howison if he has read the Portland Oregonian, the Fresno Republican or the Los Angeles Express. Perhaps that is what ails the learned gentleman. His estimate of Pacific Coast newspapers would seem to warrant the conclusion that he has.

Paradoxically, the deciduous fruit growers of California have received handsome profits from a bad harvest. This year the fruit yield was poor in proportion to the acreage in bearing trees and vines, and the quality of the fruit inferior; but nevertheless the demand was active and the prices realized remunerative. On the whole, the crop has been more profitable to the producers this year than it was in many seasons when the yield was heavy and the quality of the fruit much better. A partial failure of the fruit crop East and South is responsible for this paradox. The increased demand resulting from widespread prosperity and the rapid growth of population where California fruits find their chief market was a decisive factor, however. Better organization of the fruit interests played its part, while the recent investigations have undoubtedly relieved shippers of some exactions and impositions which have heretofore diminished their profits. But to whatever causes their good fortune may be ascribed, the fruit growers of California are to be congratulated on getting profitable returns from a poor crop.

The Reno Gazette refers to John Sharp Williams of Mississippi as the "alleged leader of the Democratic minority in Congress." Why not be accurate? Mr. Williams is the leader of the alleged Democratic minority. In these days it is hard to tell who is a Democrat.

ROYAL TONIC

Beats Anything We Ever Sold As a Strength-Creator and Body Builder.

The Owl Drug Co. are very enthusiastic over the delicious cod liver oil preparation, which contains no oil in referring to the matter, said Mr. Specht of the above firm. "We sell many tonics, and we handle all kinds of remedies that claim to be invigorators and strength-creators. We do this because we are druggists, and it is our business to supply the public with what they want."

"When our advice is asked, however, in regard to a tonic, body-builder or strength-creator, we invariably recommend Vinol, as we know of nothing that can compare with it."

"In Vinol modern science has given us all of the tonic, body-building and curative properties of that famous old remedy cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, without a drop of the obnoxious and system-clogging grease which characterizes old fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, and which has proved such a drawback. Vinol is not a patent medicine, as the label on each bottle tells every thing it contains, therefore you know exactly what you are taking."

"In the most natural manner it tones up the digestive organs, creates a hearty appetite, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body to do its work as nature intended."

"Our faith in Vinol is so strong that we gladly offer to refund the money in every case where it fails to give satisfaction." The Owl Drug Company.

nothing more. Their faces, too, were already flushed, and as they emerged into the sunshine of the cricket field their glazed eyes blinked.

"The soldiers, who had partaken very sparingly themselves, winked at one another. Victory seemed assured."

"But what was this? Out of a marquee a crew of athletic giants came running, and began to practice batting and bowling in admirable fashion."

"Who are those chaps? We don't know them," said an officer, frowning.

"Oh," said one of the lawyer guests, "they are our—our playing team. We are only the lunching team, you know."

A GOOD PARROT STORY.

"These insurance gentlemen don't tell all they know," said Charles E. Hughes of the insurance investigating committee, at a dinner in New York.

"They are not like the parrot," he added.

In Glens Falls, where I was born, there was a family that had an intelligent parrot with a large vocabulary.

"This parrot usually was kept in the family sitting room, but a spell of severe cold set in, and so the bird was kept in the warm kitchen.

"It learned, down there, a number of new speeches, with which it amused the family greatly on its return upstairs."

"One afternoon, when the mistress rang the bell for something, the parrot said:

"'Let 'em ring again.'"

BRICK-LAYER IS HERE'S PATRIOTIC BUNKO MAN IS MILLIONAIRE CHORUS GIRL SENTENCED

EARNING $5 A DAY, HE FALLS HEIR TO $9,500,000.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Thomas H. Mitchell, a city brick layer, who earns $5 a day, is reported to have fallen heir to $9,500,000, his portion of an estate of $17,500,000 left by two grand uncles in Australia. He says information to this effect came to him yesterday, from his former home, Portmarna, County of Galway, Ireland. His mother, he said, has inherited the estate and he will receive a share. He is awaiting further confirmation of the report before he lays down his trowel.

REFUSES TO WEAR ENGLAND'S FLAG FOR PRINCE AND IS FINED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Because she would not wear a tiny British flag, the night Prince Louis and his staff were at the theater, May Leslie, a chorus girl, was fined $15, and yesterday served notice of suit for damages against the management. The flags were sent to the theater by British officers and the girls in the chorus were instructed to wear them. Miss Leslie, who is Irish, refused point-blank, "I'm not the first Irish martyr," she declared.

"SHEENEY MIKE" IS AWARDED SEVEN YEARS IN SING SING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Max Cohen, a bunko man who is known as "Sheeny Mike," was yesterday sent to Sing Sing prison for seven years. Cohen tried to swindle David Landon of San Francisco, out of $450. Landon was stopping at the Vendome Hotel, and met Cohen, who said he was "Mr. Anheuser, the beer man." Then Cohen introduced Landon to another man as "Mr. Busch, my partner." They sat at a table in the cafe and Cohen ordered "some of my beer—you know—Anheuser-Busch." There was a dispute as to who should pay, and it was suggested that Landon had no money to pay with anyhow. He produced a roll of $450. "Anheuser" grabbed the money and "Busch" grabbed Landon. In the scuffle that followed Cohen was caught but his partner escaped. Landon's story kept the audience in the court room laughing. "It's a funny story to hear," said Judge McMahon in sentencing Cohen, "but this bunko business has got to be stopped."

PLAYS TO BE SEEN AT MACDONOUGH

"On the Bridge at Midnight" will be produced at the Macdonough Theater again tonight. There was a fair attendance at the play last night.

"POLLY PRIMROSE."

"Hugh Carlyle" is not so much of a "Man's Man" at the end of the play as at the beginning of it, he prides himself on being. He is all Polly Primrose's man then. The vivacious college girl has no particular interest in him when she first meets him, but then it is so horribly selfish for him to be only a man's man, and so awfully stuck up, as if women were not good enough for him; that she just won't have it so there! And she assaults his vanity, she humiliates his dignity, she humiliates his pride, and she humiliates his love. He comes to think that a woman is of some account after all, and that Polly is of the most account of all of them. The gay Polly, too, falls before her own guns when she discovers after she has broken down the barricade of his "man's heart" that he is a very captivating woman's man after all, and that she has actually fallen in love with him herself. The sly cord of strategy, surprise, wit and perversity, through which she also enmeshes her, bind into a compact whole the incidents of the delightful breezy war play. The author has named for her: Miss Carol, who will show the theatregoers of Oakland just how a clever girl achieved her place in the world. Miss Arden is as wise as a Polly Primrose as was Adelaide Thurston, who made the part famous.

The play is the Washington household, with Confederate leanings, haunted by fears that every guest—even Polly's admirer—was a spy for the Federal authorities, and abounds in stirring situations and climaxes, lighted, all with Polly's subtle, reliable love intrigues. Its appearance at the Macdonough Theater on November 25 and 26 will be the signal for a great outpouring of the play-loving public of Oakland. Seats are now selling.

Mr. Mansfield will appear in "Beau Brummel" at the Macdonough Theater, one night, December 7. The sale of seats will open on Wednesday, November 29, at 9 a. m.

New Styles While They Are New

Every manufacturer of good shoes goes to the same source for his new styles. The closest watch is kept for new models designed by a certain few exclusive custom bootmakers.

The ordinary manufacturer is not content to copy exactly, but tries to save a little leather here, or to "improve" the shape a little there—and then he is compelled to put his "improved" shoes on the market through the old roundabout way which adds four profits to the price and at least six months to the time.

Regals are true, unaltered copies of the same originals, and Regal direct methods bring you the new styles before the first pair has been six weeks off the custom bootmaker's lasts. Six-dollar shoes (and better) at the wholesale price.

GRANT LET OFF Y. M. I. DANCE IS LIGHTLY BIG SUCCESS

GIVEN FOUR MONTHS FOR RUNNING AWAY WITH MARRIED WOMAN.

POINT RICHMOND, Nov. 24.—John Grant has been sentenced to four months in the County Jail by Judge Wells. It will be remembered that Grant was arrested at Richmond some weeks ago at the instance of L. B. Small, a former resident of the State of Oregon but now of Oakland, who swore to a warrant charging Grant with adultery. The latter pleaded guilty to the charge when his trial came up in the Superior Court and sentence was pronounced by Judge Wells.

Grant, who is the wife of Small from a small town in Oregon some three years ago, and after stopping at various places, the couple located at Richmond, where the husband who had been following them up, found them living as man and wife.

Small's ill treatment of his wife was the reason she deserted him for Grant.

TO PROMOTE RAILWAY. Without a doubt Contra Costa will become a network of electric railways in the near future. The men who are realizing that this is an inviting field and one that will bring returns on the money invested in electric lines, are now chiseling through the streets of Martinez, there seems to be another project of the same nature on foot. The project is said, has the backing of W. S. Rheem and his associates at Point Richmond. It is no more than to build an electric line from San Pablo, the present terminus of the line in that section, as far east as the city of Richmond, and then put on a fast ferry-boat connecting with Vallejo and making a strong bid for the business of that section.

The road is completed as far as Vallejo Junction, no doubt it will be extended to Martinez. Quick means of travel between the two towns of the county is what is badly needed, and with the freight that can be hauled, those who are a poor, slow, and uncertain mode of travel will be paid for the start.

ALREADY the Belt Line road that extends from Richmond around the Potrero, to Point San Pablo, is being equipped with electricity. The volume of business that is being handled at the wharf at Point San Pablo has increased to such an extent that the change was made necessary.

HEALTH BOARD MEETS. The local Board of Health met in Dr. Barney's office last night and organized by electing officers. Dr. N. H. Barney, president; J. F. Brooks, vice-president; A. C. Trautvetter, secretary. Dr. Barney was elected Health Officer. Messrs. Brooks and Jenkins were appointed a committee to draft rules and regulations. Resolutions were adopted, according to the provisions of ordinance No. 15.

BRIEFLETS. The Good Templars gave a big blow-out Wednesday night at Roth's Hall. Several members of the order were up from Oakland to participate and lend hand toward the enjoyment of the occasion. Two new members were initiated into the mysteries of the order. John Ralph Wilson, the well-known attorney of San Francisco, and Charles Fickelbaugh, formerly of the same city, have formed a partnership and opened up for the practice of law at McDonald Avenue, in the Annette building.

HILL IS IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY

MERIDEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—Congressman E. B. Hill yesterday expressed himself very strongly in favor of reciprocity with the Philippines. "It will be a great day for Connecticut," he said, "when reciprocity with the islands is established. From what I have learned during my trip to the islands it will be the means of adding a million or more to the commerce of the Connecticut coast. I am convinced that with no tariff on Connecticut tobacco in the Philippines thousands of pounds would be sold there each year."

"During my stay in the islands I interviewed many of the largest tobacco manufacturers and they told me that with a Connecticut wrapper they could successfully compete with the Gormans of China and Manchuria away from them. The manufacturers are obliged to import the tobacco from their neighbors from Sumatra and province of Isabella at heavy expense."

"I shall do all in my power to work for the passage of the bill in the coming Congress."

FACTS ABOUT COTTON.

The world's cotton production for 1904, entering the commercial channels was 15,041,839 bales with a total consumption of 16,474,980 bales. This indicates a surplus in the world's factory supply of cotton amounting to 2,666,878 bales. The total production and consumption of cotton, however, does not represent the full statistics for the world. Large quantities of cotton are grown and consumed in China, Russia, and other eastern countries, and in South and Central America. The cotton that enters into commercial channels, and cannot be estimated with any certainty.—Harper's Weekly.

PASSING OF PORRIDGE

Makes Way for the Better Food of a Better Day.

"Porridge is no longer used for breakfast in my home," writes a loyal Briton from Hurtsville, Ontario. This was an admission of no small significance to one brought up on the time honored standard of—

"One month ago," she continues, "I bought a package of Grape-Nuts food for my husband, who had been an invalid for over a year. He had passed through a severe attack of pneumonia and a gripe combined, and was left in a very bad condition when they passed away."

"I tried everything for his benefit, but nothing seemed to do him any good. A month followed month and he still remained as weak as ever. I was almost discouraged about him when I got the Grape-Nuts, but the result has compensated me for my anxiety."

"In the one month that he has eaten Grape-Nuts he has gained ten pounds in weight, his strength is rapidly returning to him, and he feels like a new man. Now we all eat Grape-Nuts food, and are the better for it. Our little 6-year-old boy, who used to suffer from pains in the stomach after eating the old-fashioned porridge, has no more trouble since he began to use Grape-Nuts, and I have no more doctor's bills to pay for him."

"We use Grape-Nuts with only sweet cream, and find it the most tasty dish in our bill of fare."

"Last Monday I ate four teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast, nothing else, then set to work and got my morning's work done by 9 o'clock, and felt less tired, much stronger, than I had made my breakfast on meat, potatoes, etc. As I used to, I wouldn't be without Grape-Nuts in the house for any money." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book "The Road to Wellville," in packages.

IS DISEASE A CRIME?

Not so very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain laws of nature's law which, understood and implicitly followed, would result in the prevention of much of the sickness and suffering of humanity. But to say that sickness should be regarded as criminal, must, on a little sober reflection, appeal to every reasonable and intelligent individual as a rational wrong.

Thousands suffer from contagious and infectious diseases most innocently and unconsciously contracted. Other thousands suffer and die of cancerous affections, the cause of which no medical man has yet been wise enough to forestall and determine, and which can not, therefore, be avoided. Then too, many times stress of circumstances compel people to expose themselves to various disease-producing agencies, such as malaria, bad air in overheated factories, coal mines, and many other situations, and surely those who suffer therefrom should not be branded as criminals.

In so far as disease is contracted or brought on one's self from harmful excesses, overeating, intemperance and other like indulgences and debauchery, we think, with our editor friend, that it should be regarded as a crime less than criminal. On the other hand, we think it would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes, criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, overworked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens which she is obliged to struggle along under until she succumbs to the strain and over-exertion, and suffers from weakness, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

The too frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with the anxiety and worry of rearing a large family, are the cause of weakness, derangements and debility which the mother has to bear and which are aggravated by the many household cares and the hard, never-ending work which she is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for women's peculiar ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, overworked housewife can not get needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to abstain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, ante-version and retro-version of the uterus or other displacement of the woman's organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much outdoor air as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important.

It is Dr. Pierce's observation that many housewives catch a chill in a weakened condition of their system from too close confinement in doors. Often the kitchen, where they spend most of their time, is ill ventilated and the bad air and overheating thereof act most unfavorably upon the woman's strength, until she finds herself suffering from various weaknesses attended by backache, beating-down pains, or dragging-down sensations that are extremely hard to bear. A catarrhal, pelvic drain, of most debilitating and disagreeable nature, is a common symptom of the congested or inflamed condition of the lining membranes of the pelvic organs, attended, perhaps, with tenderness and pain in these regions. Now, while all the foregoing disagreeable symptoms and sensations will generally yield to the faithful and somewhat persistent use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, to realize the very best results from its use, the patient must, as far as possible, abstain from over-work, worry, and too close confinement in doors. To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household duties or in social duties and functions which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating medicine. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be resorted to in this most valuable woman's remedy were it not for its good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their harmful character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol, and that too in large quantities. Furthermore, it is the only medicine for women's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women's weaknesses and ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper; that it is the only medicine especially designed for the cure of women's ailments that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement worth more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines.

An invitation is extended by Dr. Pierce to every sick and ailing woman to consult him by letter. There is absolutely no charge or fee for this. Every letter is carefully considered, fully answered, and its statements held as strictly private and confidential. Address as above.

PROFESSOR LOEB TELLS OF EXPERIMENTS

Result of Tests to Determine Character of Force Which Produces Life in Mollusc Eggs.

BERKELEY, November 24.—Professor Jacques Loeb, the eminent savant whose researches into the secret of the origin of life have given the world a new method of completing the set of experiments that it is hoped will eventually make clear the life problem, and today added another to the many steps already taken in this direction when he published an announcement of his latest experiments, he has employed to mature eggs of a mollusc, the Lottia gigantea.

The result of Professor Loeb's experiments with these eggs of the mollusc have caused him to revise theories previously held. The experiments included the testing of the effects of hypertonic sea-water upon mollusc eggs, with a view to determining how fertilization might be accomplished, and also to determine whether the action of sea-water and its effect upon the eggs is of a physical or chemical force. Professor Loeb formerly believed the action was of a physical character, but now revises this opinion.

Discussing his experiments, Professor Loeb today made the following announcement: "Two years ago I published the fact that I was able to produce larvae from the unfertilized eggs of certain limpets (Acantha, Lottia gigantea) by submitting these eggs for about two hours to hypertonic sea-water of a certain concentration; but that I was not able to produce larvae by fertilizing the eggs of the same females with sperm. Soon after I found my new method of artificial parthenogenesis, I tried it also on the eggs of limpets, especially Lottia gigantea.

I was never able to cause more than about five per cent of the eggs of Lottia to develop parthenogenetically by treating them with hypertonic sea-water, the reason being that no more than that number were caused to become mature by this method. Artificial parthenogenesis is not always successful in Lottia, since the hypertonic sea-water does not in all cases cause eggs to become mature. These observations on the influence of hypertonic sea-water on the process of maturation are of special interest since they seem to pave the way for the decision of another question that I have often alluded to in my papers on the development of life, namely, whether the hypertonic sea-water caused the development of the unfertilized egg by a merely physical or a chemical influence upon the latter. At first I was inclined to assume that there existed a direct physical influence of the extraction of water from the egg upon the colloids in the egg and I used to discuss this possibility in my lectures more fully than in my papers, especially in connection with the work of Hardy. But at the same time a possibility of a chemical effect existed and could be accounted for by the fact that the loss of water on the part of the egg must alter the degree of electrolytic dissociation unequally for the different salts contained in the egg. One of the results might be a change in the concentration of the HO or H ions in the egg and this might lead to a catalysis of certain chemical processes. Since our experiments indicate that the influence of alkali upon the process of maturation is a chemical one it is probable that the equal though weaker action of the hypertonic sea-water upon the same process is also chemical. I intend to continue this line of inquiry.

SCROFULA AN AWFUL INHERITANCE

While it is true that Scrofula may be acquired under certain conditions, it is usually inherited. Parents who are related by the ties of blood, or who have a consumptive tendency, or family blood taint of any character, are sure to transmit it to their children in the form of Scrofula. Swollen glands, brittle bones, poor digestion, weak eyes, Catarrh, emaciated bodies and general weak constitutions are the principal ways in which the disease is manifested. The blood has been diseased from birth, and being in this condition cannot properly nourish the body and Scrofula is the result. A hereditary disease like this can only be reached, by a constitutional remedy and nothing equals

S. S. S. as a cure for it. It cleanses and strengthens the deteriorated blood, drives out all scrofulous and tubercular deposits, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. S. S. S. supplies to the ancient, lifeless blood the properties necessary to build back to strong, robust health, and does this gently and so thoroughly that no signs of the disease are ever seen in after life. Being purely vegetable S. S. S. is the best remedy for Scrofula; its harmless but healing ingredients enter into the circulation and replace was-like, bloodless faces with vigorous strength glowing with health. Book with information about Scrofula and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

DIMOND DOINGS

Business Notes From Upper Fruitvale.

FRUITVALE, Nov. 24.—It is reported on what seems excellent authority that the Santa Fe Railroad Company, which some time ago purchased fifty feet frontage on upper Fruitvale avenue in the Dimond tract, has within the last few days bought another strip adjoining, in order to get more complete facilities for the improvements which it contemplates making here in the not distant future.

WEDDING RECEPTION. A social event which is very pleasantly being given by people of upper Fruitvale is the reception which was given to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nielsen, recently married. Mr. Nielsen is the senior partner of Nielsen & Anderson, the grocers, on Hopkins street, one of the leading and oldest firms here, and his wife was formerly Miss Annie Broderick. The reception was given in Upper Fruitvale hall, Tuesday evening, and was very generally attended by the people of this vicinity. It was a most enjoyable affair to two worthy people.

GAS. Gas mains are being laid on Fruitvale avenue above Hopkins street, for a block or so, and Dimond (postoffice) is taking on the air of a first-class residence suburb. The little conveniences of commercial life are increasing rapidly.

NEW BUILDING. D. S. Mounts is putting up a commodious two-story building on Fruitvale avenue, below and near Hopkins street, into which himself and family expect to move within a few days.

DANCING SCHOOL. Dimond is getting all the comforts of home. The latest is a dancing school, taught by Mrs. Pullen, assisted by Miss Mabel Pratt.

ONE MORE. L. S. Cron of the Fruitvale avenue bawdy is the latest victim of the so-called blood-poisoning trouble with which so many people have suffered this season. As with others, it started from a slight scratch, on one hand, and laid him out entirely for a couple of days.

PERSONAL. F. Johnston, recently from Nome, Alaska, has bought from the Rudell Real Estate Company lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block P, in the Laurel Grove tract, with four-room house on them, and has moved in with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mansson of Laurel Grove, go to Chicago Saturday to live.

MORE CONTRIBUTIONS. F. S. Lewis has given $50 to the Fire Department. The building on Putnam street, is rapidly going up and will soon be under cover.

CARROLL CUFFED 'EM. The Cozad trained animal show broke up in a row Wednesday evening, after the performance. Some of the roughest were disgruntled over money matters, others up, and between the two causes work on dismantling the "tent city" didn't proceed with a creak. The "loyal" men picked up sticks and pickets to drive the contrary ones to it. That night the Cozad animal show, brought on a pitched battle. In the midst of the racket the officers of the show sent for Constable Tom Carroll, routing him out of bed. He cuffed one or two of the unruly demonstrators, and sent them on their way. The demonstrators on submission, gave the others a good sensible talking to, and the show moved, eastward.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY. Captain and Mrs. Dickson celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding at their home, 1311 Eighth street, on Sunday, November 19. Games were played, and dancing was the enjoyment of the night. At 8 p. m. supper was served, and at 11 p. m. ice cream and music was enjoyed. Music was also enjoyed. The guests departed, feeling that they had added another pleasant memory to their lives. There were twenty of the "grown-up" friends present, and almost as many children.

CRUSHED BY TRAIN

Japanese is Run Down by Engine at Berkeley.

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—S. Hanest, a young Japanese, Berkeley, was struck by a Southern Pacific engine at Center street and Shattuck avenue last night, and mangled so that his injuries were pronounced fatal by attending physicians. He died an hour later. His head was almost severed from his body. His chest was crushed, and his head cut. The train dragged him a distance of about forty feet from the point at the corner of Center and Shattuck avenues, where he was caught by the engine.

Hanest was crossing this track and failed to hear the oncoming train. Benjamin Buvo, the engineer, declares that he rang the bell as usual, and conductor E. Pailler corroborates the assertion. The coroner will hear testimony on this point from the trainmen and others.

Hanest was a shoemaker, employed in a Japanese factory at Center and Milvia streets. He was 29 years old, and a single man.

BOOK OF JOB IS A DRAMATIC POEM

Biblical Scholar Talks to Berkeley Audience About Scriptural Character.

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—Professor Richard Green Moulton, the distinguished Bible editor and member of the faculty of the University of Chicago, delivered the last of his series of lectures at St. Mark's Church last night.

Professor Moulton spoke last night on the book of Job. Some of his thoughts were: "The book of Job is a dramatic poem in the epic style, depicting the mystery of suffering. Job is first shown to be a righteous man, with much wealth, giving religious care to his children. Then Satan appears before God and falsely accuses Job, and God gives him leave to tempt Job but 'in all this Job sinned not nor charged God foolishly.' Again Satan receives permission to tempt Job and 'smote him with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his head, but he put away sin and did not receive evil.'"

Friends and spectators gathered about him to speak words of consolation. Then, his suffering becoming intense, Job curses, not God, but the day of his birth. His suffering is sent as a test of his saintship. The consolation of his friends is that all suffering is judgment upon sin. They say that Job has sinned, and he will become well. Job looked for longer consolation from them and longs for the day of his death. He says that no sin could bring this upon him. He asks that they leave him alone so that he may recover his strength before he returns hence. Never before has he seen a good man question the judgment of God. It is the power of God that has done this and even though he slay him he will still trust him.

Job's friends continue to be miserable comforters, but the more Job falls in these sources the more he thinks of vindication on high. He says "apart from my flesh shall I see God." The ways of the Almighty are not to be traced to earth. The wicked triumph, the orphans and widows are left portionless, poverty is made more hard to bear because it is side by side with progress. Job is made to look the doctrine in the face.

The doctrine of the three friends is that those that use up against the Lord are his enemies. The third solution to the mystery of suffering is the warning against more sin. The youthful Elihu stands forth from the throng and, deigning no reply to the three friends, looks to the sky and asks if God is to be benefited or injured by the righteousness or wickedness of one man.

The fourth solution is good and sublime. Finally, Job's eye seeth and he therefore repents. Job says that he is not perfect, but that he is innocent of sin. The anger of the Lord is shown to be against the three friends. "The fifth solution shows our attitude. The strong faith of Job is more acceptable than the blind adoration of his friends. Then Job has to make intercession for his friends. Job is thus relieved of his troubles, doubles his blessings and lives till an old age."

TELLS OF ROMANCE

Berkeley Man Has Story That is Unique.

BERKELEY, November 24.—Lewis M. Williamson, of the firm of Williamson & Mason, who left here early in November with his bride to spend his honeymoon in Oregon, dropped into Berkeley Saturday on a brief business trip, and last night left again for the north to rejoin his wife Mrs. Williamson, who was Miss Jessie Davidson before her romantic marriage. Mr. Williamson is now at Grants Pass, Oregon.

Mr. Williamson combined business with romance in the honeymoon, and is now the owner of two sections of lumber land at Grants Pass. He goes back to acquire lumber and plans to engage in the lumber business in the north. The land purchased by Mr. Williamson is thickly wooded with best Oregon pine, and a lumber mill has already been erected in the heart of the forest.

Mr. Williamson has not entirely completed his new business arrangements, but he has decided that he will not give up his business in Berkeley, and will conduct the business here and Williamson will divide his time between the lumber mill in the north and his Berkeley enterprises.

Mr. Williamson tells an exciting story of the wreck of the steamer St. Helena near Eureka. Both he and his bride were passengers on the ill-fated boat. When the vessel struck the rocks, Williamson would not risk passage in the lifeboats, but bravely stayed by the stranded ship with his wife all through the dark night and the next day, waiting for help. After twenty-four hours a tug from Eureka rescued them from their perilous situation.

CUT OFF HIS THUMB

What Rumor a Little Fire Kindled.

HAYWARD, Nov. 24.—Manuel Cunha, while chopping wood at home yesterday, in some way cut the thumb of his left hand nearly off. Dr. Reynolds sutured it on in an effort to preserve its usefulness.

WEBB'S HOUSE. A large leaf fire in the yard of the house of E. O. Webb, west of town, Wednesday evening, gave rise to the rumor in Hayward yesterday that the house had burned, but the report was erroneous. The house was uninjured.

A HAYWARD BOY. Willie Knox, a Hayward boy bred and born, who has been the regulation time in the United States Navy, is back home on a visit. He looks fine, and says he is going back into the service. He has been in China, Japan and other Asiatic waters for the past three years.

WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT. Hayward Women of Woodcraft had their usual monthly flow of soul and feast of good things this evening at their meeting last evening, with an exceptionally enjoyable program.

GAMES. There are possibilities of a game of baseball at Hayward next Sunday, between the clubs which were expected to play last Sunday, but in view of the weather the possibilities cannot be called very bright.

THE GREAT EVENT. The following notice has been sent out by Clerk Wilbert of the Woodmen: "On Friday evening, December 1, the ten camps, W. O. W., surrounding Hayward will meet here to tender to our head camp a royal fraternal reception. Over 100 candidates will be initiated. A grand street parade, two degree teams, banquet and a general good time will characterize the log rolling. All sojourners."

SHOT IN THE ARM

Accident Befalls H. R. Gray in the East.

SAN LEANDRO, Nov. 24.—The U. P. E. C. has authorized the payment by the proper officers, of over $14,000 in accrued death benefits this month.

SHOT IN THE ARM. Word has reached here that Henry R. Gray, who was for a year or so the pleasant and efficient assistant postmaster of San Leandro, and recently went to his home near Kalamazoo, Mich., for a visit, was recently accidentally shot through the arm by the inefficiency of a boy who was handling a gun. So far as learned, he is not expected to suffer seriously from it.

UNHOLY JOE. Joe Sylvester, who is reported to have told a friend that it was he who robbed the Sportsman saloon, is missing from town. It was reported within a few days past that he was in Oakland, but search by the officers for him there failed to locate him. There is a warrant out for him.

IN AND OUT. A Mr. Snow, from Colorado, has rented the Elisen cottage on San Lorenzo avenue.

Mr. Hall, recently from the East, has moved into the Webster house, formerly of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burnett, residents of San Leandro for thirty years past, have moved to San Francisco, to take the rest of life easy.

Some of "Uncle Joe" Cannon's friends have presented him with a Presidential boom, and now he probably feels that he has been gold-bricked.—Birmingham News.

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY.

Do Not Try to Drive and Force It to Work When It Is Not Able Or You Will Suffer All the More.

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a balky horse; force drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill-treatment before it "talks," but when it does you had better go slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomachs work by starving themselves. They think that the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to do when it was well. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body, take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all and what you want—and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach; in fact, you will get all about having a stomach, just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it the much-needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine as of them. In fact, physicians are prescribing them all over the land, and if your own doctor is real honest with you, he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for Dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

$10,000 AND A KISS

Citizens Give Doctor the One, Society Woman the Other.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Memphis, Tenn., says: Ten thousand dollars and a kiss from a leading society woman is the reward given to Dr. Hober Jones, president of the Memphis Board of Health, in recognition of his successful efforts in keeping the city free from yellow fever during the recent visit of the scourge to the Southern States.

The check was the result of a subscription list taken up by city citizens, who quickly secured $10,000. The kiss was not on the program for the formal presentation, which occurred yesterday. The society woman was Mrs. James S. Robinson, wife of the millionaire pharmacist. Following the presentation of the check she walked up to the physician and, without a word of warning, kissed him squarely upon the lips. The act took Dr. Jones by surprise, but he soon regained his composure.

PROTEST AGAINST NEW GAME LAWS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—Commission men in St. Louis are up in arms against the new game laws recently enacted by the State Legislature, the statute being characterized as illegal from the fact, it is alleged, that they smack of class legislation.

It is stated that St. Louis firms are sending out printed matter telling of alleged discriminations the new law makes against the common people in favor of the influential and the mighty gun clubs. The pamphlets declare that clubs have influenced legislation in forty-five States and Territories. The notices say in part:

"Not only is every citizen of St. Louis deprived of the right to buy game or have it shipped to him from any point in the State or have it in his possession at any time, but he is prevented from receiving any game from any other State or city, so that St. Louis is the only large city in the United States so hampered and imposed on."

The laws are declared by the commission men to be selfishly unjust.

SOMETHING ABOUT MARS.

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—Professor Percival Lowell, director of the Flagstaff observatory, addressed the society of Arts of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology last night on "Recent Researches on the Canals of Mars."

The telescope through which the recent observations of the planet were made is a 24-inch glass and the most space-penetrating of any in the world. He said through the telescope Mars was the most superb object that could be imagined and there was no woman who would not give up her jewels for the effect.

Prof. Lowell differed with Prof. W. H. Pickering, who announced in 1898 that he discovered forty lakes upon the planet. The speaker said that observations at Flagstaff showed that the dots observed by Professor Pickering were there but they were not lakes. The number of dots had increased to 400 as shown upon the disks and were recognizable today.

The whole surface of the planet was triangulated by lines which were believed to be canals. The canals started at the Arctic and continued straight down to the opposite pole. He therefore believed that the canals were not natural, but artificial. With every thing beginning at the pole on Mars, the water had to wait until the polar caps were off. Observations determine that every canal was a double canal. The behavior of these canals could only be interpreted by an unnatural process. Professor Lowell concluded, therefore, that we were looking upon the work of some sort of intelligence.

ROBERT F. POTTER COME A CROPPER

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Nov. 24.—Robert F. Potter, one of the best known hunters of the Westchester Club, came a cropper in the fox hunt of the Meadowbrook Club yesterday that may have serious results. He was thrown with great force near the Check, and lay for a time unconscious. An examination showed that he had broken his collarbone and had received other severe injuries. He was removed to a hospital.

Mr. Potter is a son of the late Edward T. Potter, and a nephew of Bishop Potter.

REV. BOOTH DIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Rev. Dr. Russell Booth, formerly pastor of the Rutgers Riverside Presbyterian Church, died yesterday. He was born in this city on May 16, 1830, the son of William A. and Alda Russell Booth.

Dr. Booth was ordained to the ministry in 1853 and his last charge was of the city of New York. He was a member of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Booth was elected moderator of the General Assembly at Pittsburg in 1905. At the General Assembly in this city three years ago, Dr. Booth vigorously opposed the revision of the Westminster creed, but, after certain changes had been made, he finally yielded. He was the chairman of the executive committee of the Evangelical Alliance and a trustee of the Christian College of China, in Canton. He was a director of the Princeton Theological Seminary for many years and a member of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. His literary works are a large number of magazine articles, and several books, including "The Place of Missions in Modern Christianity" and "The Christian Union and Denominationalism."

In 1853 Dr. Booth married Miss Emma Louise Lathrop of Auburn, who survives him.

TO COMMENCE WORK.

Mr. Hill has made an automobile trip over the proposed route. The road will consist of several hundred miles and will connect the Burlington road with the Great Northern system in Montana.

ELMHURST, Nov. 24.—The towns along the line of the Oakland, San Leandro & Hayward electric railway are rapidly becoming one socially and otherwise. The social exchanges of courtesy are already innumerable. Sunday evening last, the San Leandro Foresters' cornet band visited Elmhurst and took part in the birthday celebration of Manuel Olvera. From there, led by John Marshall, they proceeded to about half past ten o'clock to Sam's Inn, where they gave Sam Batt and his genial wife a genuine ovation in the way of a serenade. They rendered number after number of the finest brass band music. The proprietor of "Sam's Inn," who was just about to retire, was so surprised by the unusual sound at that hour of the night that he nearly dropped the cash register on to the floor; the roomers upstairs rolled out of bed on the double quick and came down; heads were poked out of the windows in the Willow block, opposite; the men in the power house came to the front; and the people of the neighborhood generally sat up and took notice. After half an hour or so of melodious music, the band finally consented to a return of courtesies, and Mr. Batt, with the help of wife and friends, made things joyous and long to be pleasantly remembered mutually.

The members of the band present were: George Rogers, Oscar Burnett, August Von Glahn, Frank Burnett, Billy Rogers, James Larsen and Chester Burnett. The band was also accompanied by quite a number of the younger citizens of San Leandro, among them Frank Quinn, John Quadross and Chas. Enos.

CHURCH SEXTON CAPTURES BURGLAR

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Grappling with a burglar whom he encountered in the hallway of his home, Charles A. Van Order, sexton of the Church of the Epiphany, last night struggled with the robber and succeeded in holding him until the arrival of the police.

The robber secured jewelry valued at $1900 and was about to escape when Van Order entered the hallway. The man rolled about the floor, knocking over furniture, until occupants of the other flats in the building were aroused and went to Van Order's assistance.

BEAT OUT BRAINS OF HIS SISTER-IN-LAW

AWFUL CRIME ACROSS BAY

Insane Florist Kills Woman With a Chair While She Was Praying For His Child.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 24.—Louis DePaoli, a florist, residing at 420 Charter Oak avenue, beat out the brains of his sister-in-law, Catherine DePaoli, at an early hour this morning. His murderous work was done with two chairs, both of which were broken during his fierce attack. The cause of the crime is not positively known, but it is attributed to homicidal mania.

ATTACKED AT NIGHT.

The victim, who was the wife of Antoine DePaoli, brother of her slayer, had accompanied the latter and his family home from church and was invited to remain all night.

Some trouble ensued and none of the family had retired at 3 o'clock this morning when the murdered woman attempted to put one of her sister-in-law's children to sleep.

The father resented this and killed her. Several hours later Antoine De Paoli came to the house inquiring for his wife. Louis told him that she was dead and threatened to kill him. Antoine notified the police and his brother was arrested on a charge of murder.

HYPNOTIC SPELL.

Louis DePaoli surrendered to the officers without a struggle. He declares that his sister-in-law, whom he killed, held his children under a hypnotic spell.

His baby daughter, Annie, recently was affected with eye trouble, and this he attributed to the mysterious influence of the woman he killed.

It is asserted that while prayers were being offered for the recovery of the child's eyesight, DePaoli suddenly seized a chair and began his frenzied assault, from which he did not cease until long after the death of Catherine DePaoli, whose body was beaten out of semblance to human form.

WASK TO HAVE CHIEF BALL OUSTED FROM OFFICE

Charges of Incompetency Are Made by Business Men—Fire Board to Investigate.

A petition circulated at the instance of Frank Matthews, president of the Bay City Iron Works, which was recently destroyed by fire, was filed this morning with the Board of Public Works, asking that Fire Chief N. A. Ball be removed from office on the ground of alleged incompetency.

The petition should have been addressed to the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, as the fire chief is not under the jurisdiction of the Board of Works.

The signatures to the petition comprise, in several instances, those who were unsuccessful in bidding for the repair of three fire engines recently.

WHAT BALL SAYS.

Relative to the charges Fire Chief Ball says he has nothing to say at the present time, but will, amply defend himself when the proper time comes.

Chief Ball states he does not fear an investigation, and believes he can show that the charges are based either on misinformation or personal animosity.

The document filed this morning reads as follows:

THE CHARGES.

"To the Honorable Board of Public Works of the City of Oakland—Gentlemen: The undersigned respectfully petition your honorable body to remove from office, the present fire chief, Nicholas A. Ball, and to appoint to that position some competent man fitted and able to intelligently handle serious fires, and to maintain in a state of reasonable efficiency the various branches of the fire department in this city.

"The undersigned are moved to make this petition directly by the disclosure of the present fire chief's utter inefficiency, shown and evidenced by his conduct of the recent fires in the neighborhood of Clay, Washington and Third streets, and indirectly by the evidence it disclosed of the general lack of preparation which has become at least partially prevalent

JUDGE MELVIN. JUDGE HENRY MELVIN THIS MORNING SENTENCED GEORGE BLAKER TO IMPRISONMENT FOR LIFE. THE BOY WAS CONVICTED OF MURDER IN THE SECOND DEGREE.

Judge Melvin Declares the Youth Committed an Atrocious Crime—Perjured Himself on the Stand.

LIFETIME AT SAN QUENTIN.

Such was the sentence pronounced this morning by Judge Henry Melvin upon George W. Blaker for the murder of Thomas Cook at Fruitvale on July 22 last. A hush fell over the courtroom as the sentence was pronounced, and those who crowded the place out of curiosity, left quietly, oppressed with the feeling that they had witnessed a tragedy. Not yet seventeen years of age, young Blaker stood before the bar, with hat in hand, and evidently did not appreciate what the sentence meant to him. Seated within the rail was Captain Charles H. Blaker, with tear-stained face, and his daughter, Mrs. Jennie Gotte, who was there to lend him her support in the time of his affliction.

NO TEARS NOR SCENE.

There were no tears, shed and no scene. Attorney A. L. Frick had a short talk with father and sister just before the pronouncing of sentence, and probably prepared them for the worst. With the leniency of the present laws in the paroling of prisoners, a feeling spread through the courtroom that if the boy behaved himself he would not be required to serve out the limit of his sentence, and could gain the benefit of such a law after sufficient time had elapsed for him to have realized to the full extent the enormity of his crime.

PROCEEDINGS SHORT.

The proceedings did not last long, and downstairs in another department, Percy Pembroke, another of the trio of youths charged with complicity in the same crime, awaited the coming of the District Attorney to take up the prosecution of the case against him. He was there with his father and his mother beside him, neither of whom had the heart to see what became of Blaker, but sat with their son in the deserted courtroom, from whence all had gone to see the final act in the case being closed upstairs. Among the spectators at that scene were many of the jurors who today are listening to the evidence against Pembroke, and what effect if any, that courtroom scene may have had upon them remains to be seen.

IN THE COURTROOM.

It was but a few minutes after 10 o'clock when Judge Melvin ascended to the Judge's seat in the criminal department, and called the case, "The People against Blaker." The prisoner had been sitting alone in one corner of the room used as a sort of prisoners' dock at times, and at others the jurors who try the men who sit there have their seats. At the calling of the case he came forward and at the same time Attorney Frick arose, and, addressing the court, made a formal motion setting the case for this morning instead of for November 27, as originally set as the day for sentence. This motion was granted and the Judge then instructed Clerk Glover to arraign the prisoner. After the reading of the document setting forth the fact that he had been duly tried and convicted of the crime of which he had been charged, he was asked if he had any legal cause to show why sentence should not be pronounced upon him.

ATTORNEY FRICK'S PLEA.

With the ending of the reading, Attorney A. L. Frick, addressing the Judge, said: "There is no legal cause, your Honor, why sentence should not be pronounced upon this young boy. A jury has found him guilty of murder in the second degree, which we take it, it had a right to do, and which was a part of its function."

"This defendant is a very young man. He was only a few days more than sixteen years of age when this crime was committed. There is nothing in his demeanor or that of his family that would indicate that he belongs to the criminal class. It has been shown that the boy lost his mother several years ago, and the boy's father is engaged in an occupation that takes him away from home, a great portion of the time, and he probably has not been able to give him that attention which he would like to have done."

ASKS FOR LENIENCY.

"I think that leniency may justly be urged in this case. Your Honor knows better than I the policy of the law. While it has in view the protection of society, it also has in mind the reformation of the offender, and is it the best thing to leave this young man entirely without hope?"

Addressing himself to the prisoner, Judge Melvin said: "Blaker, as I have had no occasion to say before, it is at such time as these that I feel the responsibility of my position and never did I feel it more keenly than I do at the present moment. While your youth would naturally weigh heavily in your favor, I have before me my oath which I have sworn to keep."

AN ATROCIOUS CRIME.

"I have also before me the atrocious circumstances connected with the crime of which you have been found guilty. You gave your unfortunate victim no opportunity to yield up what you were after—his money. On the other hand, I do not believe you intended to kill him. But the man who stops a wayfarer at the point of a pistol, is a much more sly sort of a criminal than you are."

"By its verdict, the jury said that it did not believe what you said, and I myself believe that you committed perjury in the testimony you gave on the stand."

THE JUDGMENT.

"It is the judgment of this court that you be taken by the Sheriff of this county, and by him delivered to the Warden of San Quentin, and by him confined there for the term of your natural life."

For a few moments the court was still, and then a general move began of those in the courtroom to file out, and the prisoner was led out and back to the jail, from where he will be taken in a day or two to begin the service of his long sentence.

ALLEGED BANDITS ARRESTED

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 24.—Detective Thacker and J. A. Hubbard last night landed two men in the County Jail against whom there is said to be strong evidence that they held up the Redding and Delmar stage and killed Messenger Haskell. They have refused to give their names.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—H. H. Waterfelt, who was arrested by order of Mayor Dunne on the charge of speculating in tickets for the Chicago-Michigan football game, was arraigned in court today and after agreeing that he would sell no more tickets, was discharged on the payment of the costs.

TOURIST HOTEL FOR CLAREMONT

Splendid Outlook for a Great Structure on the Beautiful Ballard Property

The project to build a fine tourist hotel at Claremont has taken such definite shape as to give bright promise of success.

It has been given a good start at the launching, and will certainly be pushed to a successful conclusion if the public-spirited moneyed men on this side of the bay will only actively co-operate. Every man of property in Alameda county ought to lend a hand in this matter, for the proposed hotel will be a benefit to the whole county.

The site is an ideal one, situated on the borders of both Berkeley and Oakland, on a noble eminence commanding a panoramic view of the bay, studded with islands and shipping, and the crowded wharves and residence-covered heights of San Francisco.

THROUGH GOLDEN GATE.

It looks out through the Golden Gate, over the greater part of Oakland and Alameda, and in the background is a stately sweep of hills which shut out the north winds and afford a scene of rare sylvan beauty.

Immediately adjacent are ample grounds for gardens, tennis courts and golf links. The topography readily lends itself to adornment, and furnishes a setting gracious and beautiful.

A finer location can scarcely be found; certainly there is none more convenient or less calculated to arouse local jealousies. A hotel of the character planned has long been a public need on this side of the bay. For years the project of building one has been discussed with enthusiastic longing. The advantages it would confer on the community at large is admitted, and the necessity for it was never so great. At no previous time have conditions been so favorable for the erection of a hotel to accommodate tourist travel. Why, then, should not this project be taken up with unanimity and carried to a successful conclusion. The need exists and we have the money. Can it be said that the enterprise is lacking. Enlightened self-interest alone ought to insure the success of the scheme.

THE SITE.

The site of the proposed hotel is the Ballard property, famous for years as the finest private estate on this side of the bay. It consists of fourteen acres at the head of Claremont avenue and is beautifully wooded with native oaks, the rarest trees, shrubs and flowers. The garden has had the most careful attention for nearly thirty years and as a result the grounds rival those of Del Monte. This property was purchased by Louis Titus, of Berkeley from Mr. Ballard for $42,500.

That price was an exceedingly low one. Already Mr. Titus has had an offer of a substantial advance over the purchase price, but he proposes to turn the property over to the hotel company that is to be organized.

TO ORGANIZE COMPANY.

There is to be no brokerage stocks, no commissions, no rake-off connected with the enterprise. Every dollar subscribed is to be for the hotel. It is proposed to organize a company to be known as "The Claremont Hotel Company," with a capital stock of $300,000. Subscriptions are to be binding when stock to the amount of $200,000 has been taken. It is expected to spend at least a quarter of a million on the hotel itself.

It will be so built that if the enterprise proves as successful as it is expected to, it can be readily increased in size. There need be no argument on the question of the benefits that will accrue to Alameda county from such an enterprise. Every town in Southern California is testimony to the value of a tourist hotel of the first order. With a population of one million about San Francisco bay and with tens of thousands of pleasure seekers who make an annual pilgrimage to California, there is no question that an enterprise of this kind will be a success from its inception.

WILL BE PATRONIZED.

Hotel men who have been consulted in San Francisco and Southern California express the opinion that 250 rooms can be kept filled the year round. It is proposed to make the enterprise largely a public one. The Berkeley Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night appointed a committee of five to secure subscriptions and the Berkeley Real Estate Exchange will take up the matter next week. A special meeting of the Oakland Board of Trade has been called for Saturday afternoon to consider the enterprise, and it is expected they will give it their hearty support.

MAYOR MOTT IS RECOVERING

Mayor Frank K. Mott, who slipped and fell yesterday on the sidewalk, wrenching his spine, passed a good night and is reported to be recovering rapidly from his injury. There were no complications and Dr. E. N. Ewer, the attending physician, believes his patient will be able to resume his duties by next Monday at least.

PLAN NEW ELECTRIC ROAD

VALLEJO, Cal., November 24.—A new electric road is planned to be 150 miles long running from Vallejo to Benicia, Cordelia, Suisun, Fairfield, Vacaville, Dixon and Winters with a branch from Suisun to Rio Vista. The line is to be built on the county road. It is said that $3,000,000 has been promised for investment in the road, the work on which, it is stated, will be started the first of next year. The franchise is for fifty years. The terminus, car shops and offices of the road will be in Vallejo. Los Angeles, New York and Vallejo capitalists are interested in the road.

AGED WOMAN PRAISES HIM

NASHVILLE, Tenn., November 24.—The venerable Mrs. G. M. Goodlett of this city, honorary president and founder of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, has sent the following telegram to her young kinsman, Minor Meriwether, the midshipman who is now undergoing a court-martial in connection with his encounter with Branch:

"To Midshipman Meriwether, Annapolis, Md.—The blood of your revolutionary ancestors would have risen up against you had you done otherwise than accept the challenge of Midshipman Branch."

"CAROLINE MERIWETHER GOODLETT."
Midshipman Meriwether is a near relative of Mrs. Goodlett.

WARSHIPS MENACE TURKEY

LONDON, November 24.—The Foreign Office informed the Associated Press today that the Porte, having refused to accede to the demands of the powers, the naval demonstration will proceed, the matter now being in the hands of the naval commanders.

PARIS, November 24.—It is stated in official quarters here that the exchanges of communications between the powers concerning Turkey's answer to their ultimatum have resulted in the practical determination not to consider the answer as postponing the naval demonstration, which will proceed without further parley. It is understood that the warships of the powers are already moving from Piraeus. Their objective is not yet definitely stated, but the Island of Mitylene still appears to be the objective applicable to the situation.

SENATOR BURTON TESTIFIES IN OWN DEFENSE

Belief is That Case Will go to the Jury by Tomorrow at Latest.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—United States Senator J. R. Burton, of Kansas, went on the stand in his own defense today in his trial on the indictment charging him with having acted in the capacity of a paid attorney for the Rialto Grain & Securities Company before the Post-office Department.

He emphasized that the conference arranged for his employment by the Rialto Company took place on Illinois soil. In a train, beyond the jurisdiction of this court; declared he could not remember the conversation testified to by Charles H. Brooks yesterday, which was a distinct point for the prosecution, and related in detail his talks with Chief Postoffice Inspector Cochran, in which he told Cochran he expected to act as attorney for the Rialto Company.

He was cross-examined for almost an hour but did not lose his calm, apparently firm bearing, and replied to all questions without visible excitement.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—The defense in the case of United States Senator J. R. Burton, of Kansas, continued the introduction of evidence today.

From a statement made by Attorney Lehmann, the defense counsel for the defense, that he would finish the introduction of evidence today, it is believed that the case will go to the jury by tomorrow at the latest.

Few witnesses have been summoned by Senator Burton, and it is expected that he will be the principal witness in his own behalf.

For the first time since the case went to trial the general public evinced interest in the proceedings, and a large crowd was present when court convened today.

WITHDRAWS OBJECTION.
Before any testimony was introduced Judge Vanderventer delivered an opinion in which he held that the defense would be permitted to introduce evidence to which an objection was sustained yesterday, for the purpose of proving that the post-office inspectors had communicated to the Rialto Grain & Securities Company at a time previous to the employment of Senator Burton by the Rialto Company that the investigation had not shown the necessity for the issuance of a fraud order. Under this ruling Postoffice Inspector M. G. Price was recalled by the defense.

Mr. Price testified that he had made a report to his superior, Inspector Price, that the condition of the Rialto Company was not such that a fraud order was necessary, but said he did not remember telling anyone connected with the Rialto Company anything to that effect.

BURTON ON STAND.
Senator Burton was then called to the stand. He was sworn and seated himself in the witness chair, leaning slightly forward and answering all questions in a clear, distinct voice, and apparently without hesitation or forethought.

He frequently anticipated his counsel's questions, beginning his replies before the completion of the interrogation.

The Senator's testimony in the beginning followed closely that given in the former trial, with the exception that in describing his conversation with Thos. B. Harlan in regard to what the latter had already testified, Senator Burton laid special stress upon the fact that before the conversation relating to his employment by the Rialto Company was started, the train in which they were en route from St. Louis to Chicago, had crossed the Mississippi and was in Illinois, outside the jurisdiction of the court before which the case is being tried.

Senator Burton testified that during his conversation with Harlan, who was the representative of the Rialto Company, he (Burton) used the following words in connection with his proposed employment:

"Now, Mr. Harlan, let me understand you. I am a Senator. This Company is using the mails extensively. Is it contemplated in any way that I am expected to use my influence in the department, directly or indirectly?"

"His answer was very emphatic. He said: 'No, Senator, we do not want any influence in the department.'"

In referring to the compensation offered by the Rialto Company in connection with his employment as counsel to appear in the defense of its president, Major Dennis, Senator Burton said:

"I told him that I did not want to enter a case of that kind as counsel for a rich firm for a nominal fee of $400 or $500, and suggested a contract of $500 a month for five months."

"When I received a letter notifying me of my appointment by the Rialto Company I went down to see Chief Postoffice Inspector Cochran, and inquired regarding complaints, because I was naturally anxious to learn the standing of the concern with which I was to be identified."

Senator Burton testified that Cochran replied that there were two complaints.

MAKES INQUIRIES.
"I then told Cochran that I had been led to believe that the complaints grew out of the operations of a former concern, and that I had been assured that the Rialto Company was all right. I then inquired casually about procedure in cases of investigation, telling Cochran that I had an intention of appearing as counsel for the company, and that the questions were prompted by a desire to ascertain what to avoid in my dealings with the department."

Senator Burton testified to the visit paid to Washington by Attorney Harlan, and declared that the object of the meeting was entirely a discussion of the indictments which were threatened against Major Dennis. He said their whole conversation was on that subject.

In regard to the visit paid to the Post-office Department by himself and Dennis, Senator Burton said that it was purely unpremeditated, as when driving past the building Major Dennis inquired what building was across the street, and suggested that they go in, and that in passing the door of the chief postoffice inspector's room they saw Mr. Cochran, and that he (Burton) introduced Cochran, with some joking remarks. The witness said the conversation was general.

The witness, in relating his conversation with Chief Postoffice Inspector Cochran said:

TO DEFEND HIM.
"I had previously told Mr. Cochran that if Major Dennis was indicted, that I expected to help defend him, and then I said to him: 'Now, Cochran, I am the counsel for the Rialto Grain & Securities Company. Major Dennis owns the company. He is a stranger to me. I have been assured that the company is organized and its methods are all right. But I do not know, and if anything comes into the department that puts you upon inquiry, any complaint or anything of the kind, I wish you would advise me because, notwithstanding I am counsel for the company, I am not its counsel here. I cannot be retained under any circumstances to appear in the department as a paid attorney. Another thing, Mr. Cochran, in case it should become necessary to recommend summary action in any complaint, disregard my request entirely, because I won't answer any of these complaints, and I won't remain attorney of the company, or counsel of the company if it has any trouble with the department.'"

In reply to counsel's questions Senator Burton denied that he had any intention or so far as he knows, indicated any such intention by his language, of influencing Postoffice Inspector Cochran or any other government official in the performance of his duty. Senator Burton testified that the reason that he did not appear at the trial of Major Dennis was that he fully agreed with counsel for Major Dennis. That the case was so weak that it would be useless to overweigh the defense with counsel.

When court re-convened Assistant Attorney-General Rob. associated with District Attorney Dyer, in the prosecution, delivered the opening argument. Mr. Rob devoted himself exclusively to an interpretation of the evidence adduced during the trial.

ASKED TO HAVE BALL OUSTED

the property owners whose factories, equipments and goods were in the meantime burning; and your petitioners believe that in selecting a fire chief your honorable board should select a man whose anxiety is directed more to saving the property of Oakland's taxpayers from fire, than to saving his cuffs.

NO GENERAL ALARM.
"Despite the dangerous character and location of the fire, no general alarm was turned in. (e.) After the mills in which the fire originated were destroyed, the chief kept several streams of water playing on the then smoldering ruins, while nearby buildings, which could have been saved by the proper use of a little water, were allowed to burn. All this, despite the fact that the chief's attention was then called to the condition of affairs, and he was begged by property owners and their employees to use the available streams to save the endangered buildings. The most serious loss resulting from this almost wilful mismanagement was the burning of the Bay City Iron Works, which could have been saved by the proper use of a single one of the streams needlessly played on the ruins of property already destroyed. (f.) When the Burnham-Standford mill and yard and shed began to catch fire, the proprietors demanded assistance from the fire chief, and upon their being refused, their employees forthwith took possession of a line of hose, and, ignoring the authority of the fire chief, saved their property. In the opinion of your petitioners, it was only this action of the Burnham-Standford's men, in forcible opposition to the fire chief, that saved the water front of Oakland from destruction, or at least as much thereof as is next east and south of the fire. (g.) During the progress of the fire, the fire chief used abusive and threatening language to business men and their employees who sought from him protection to their property and for other property adjacent to the fire.

will in six months from now be the liveliest youngster of all the young cities in California, where cities and values grow faster than anywhere else on the globe. 600 people, numbering among them some of the State's shrewdest business men, have evidenced their faith in Half Moon Bay by purchasing lots there within the last 60 days. These people intend to build either permanent or summer homes there within the next six months. People who have seen other beach resorts grow with the advent of electric roads, are getting in to Half Moon Bay now. Upon completion of the Ocean Shore electric road next June we will be just 40 minutes from the center of San Francisco as against half a day, at the present time. Then property will jump to double its present value.

If you will stop just for a moment to consider what an enormous saving of time this will mean, you cannot help but realize that such an improvement would immensely increase the value of property in any community. Then consider the fact that Half Moon Bay is absolutely the only place within reach of San Francisco where a beach resort can be built, and you have a combination of circumstances that conspire to make Half Moon Bay either for a home or as an investment, far and away the best proposition on the Market today. Your money will not grow in your pocket, and it won't grow very fast in the bank, but if you will invest NOW at Half Moon Bay, it will double in six months.

Another Excursion Sunday—come in and make arrangements to go down with us.

You can buy NOW, large lots, 50x150 fronting on broad avenues within a stone's throw of the beach and two minutes walk from the station for from $200.00 to $500.00. The same lots 30 days later will cost you more.

WIFE GIVES HER EXCUSE FOR STAYING OUT AT NIGHT

Mrs. H. L. McKinney, Declares Accident and Not Elopement Caused Trouble.

Editor OAKLAND TRIBUNE—Dear Sir: I wish to furnish you with a bit of information which I hope you will publish, with reference to myself and an article published in your paper of November 23, 1905.

I left home Monday afternoon, November 20, to come down town, with the intention of returning home in a couple of hours.

After leaving the car a few paces, I stumbled, being in haste, and struck my head against something, which rendered me unconscious. Some one picked me up and carried me into a nearby house, where I was administered to by a kind lady.

When I regained consciousness, and received an explanation of what had occurred, I attempted to pursue my way, when I found, however, that I was not quite able to do so. The lady insisted on my remaining a while longer, and administered some home remedies. I felt better and said that I would make my way down to my mother's, as it was then getting late.

GROWS ILL AGAIN.

I reached my mother's home and stated that I was not feeling well. After staying a short time I said that I felt better and would go. She offered to go with me, but I thought I could get to my husband's place of business and go out with him.

I started to walk from my mother's to my husband's place, and on the way I stopped to get some medicine, feeling that the distance I had already gone had fatigued me.

After taking the medicine I grew worse and felt as though I would faint. The distance being a little too far for me to reach in order to go to my mother's or my husband's place, I concluded to step into a house, which I did, and explained that I had taken sick on my way up town. I then fainted.

GREATLY EXCITED.

Of course, I was then detained there until Tuesday morning. When I realized that I had been away from home so long, and especially all night, I was very much excited and nervous.

Believing that my husband would be very angry with me, and would believe that it was some sort of a plan, I decided I would not go home until I heard from him.

I sent a message to my mother to "know nothing about me if anyone inquired until I saw her."

In the meantime my husband went to the house to find out my whereabouts, and feeling that something was wrong, she could not tell him. She told him she knew nothing about me.

"ACTED FOOLISH."

Afterward I saw her and explained. She said that I had acted very foolish, and that my husband was very much excited, and, of course, I became more excited, and concluded the best thing to do would be to remain away until everything was quiet.

But, finding that the predicament could not be made better, and receiving word not to be seen by him again, I despaired of an amendment of matters.

My mother always tried to advise me to do what was right, and would never uphold me in the wrong.

I am very sorry that such an insignificant accident should cause such a notorious sensation and disgrace upon the name of my family, but it has always been my misfortune to have any mistake or accident which might have happened to me magnified to a great degree.

CAUSES REGRET.

The occurrence of yesterday, which took place on the county road near the home of which The Call speaks in an article dated November 24, is much to be regretted by myself and mother, as it might have been avoided.

My husband came upon us as we were conversing near the office and insisted that I go home and talk with him, but knowing his uncontrollable temper, if he gets an idea that I am in the wrong, and his inability to discuss matters without being overcome with excitement, I demanded that he should say what he desired to, there.

After refusing to go, and seeing that I was about to board a car, he snatched some jewelry and my hat from me, tearing the latter to pieces. My mother thought he intended doing me bodily harm, and only wished to protect me, so she fired the shot into the air to frighten him. She did not wish to hurt him.

MRS. H. L. MCKINNEY.

HUSBAND'S EXPERIENCE.

H. L. McKinney, who has his place of business at 452 Ninth street, had an exciting experience yesterday morning, when his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Patton, fired three shots at him, none of which, however, took effect.

Mrs. McKinney, the wife of Mr. McKinney, eloped from her home in Elmhurst several days ago with a man by the name of John Pharr, says her husband. At the time of her disappearance she told a neighbor that she and her mother were going to the theater in San Francisco with a friend, and would return about 7 o'clock, but she failed to return home.

Yesterday morning she returned to her home. Mr. McKinney had heard that she was coming home and waited for her.

When she found that her husband was home she started to leave the place and he followed her. When they reached the corner of Walter avenue and the San Leandro road in front of the real estate office of Porterfield, McKinney snatched a pin on his wife's waist and took a watch from her. As he did this Mrs. Patton, his wife's mother, who had been following them, drew a pistol from a satchel and fired three shots, none of which took effect.

LABOR UNION MATTERS

DISCUSSION AMONG THE TYPOGRAPHICAL LOCALS—NEWS NOTES.

Typographical Union No. 21 of San Francisco shows a great desire to follow in the footsteps of the British National Federation of Unionists, and to some extent bar holders of political office from participation in delegate bodies of trade unions. It made a strenuous fight for the adoption of that principle in the last meeting of the California State Federation of Labor, at Bakersfield. It lost there, after a most brilliant debate, President Cornelius of the Car Men's Union in San Francisco being among the supporters of the adoption of the principle.

In a circular which it is presumed is being sent to all local unions in the State affiliated with the State Federation, Typographical Union No. 21 is now presenting the matter again in the shape of a resolution reciting that persons holding political offices, even though they be members in good standing of labor unions, should be debarred from holding office in delegate or delegate bodies representing local unions, making local unions to instruct their delegates to the meeting of the California State Federation in Oakland to support such a resolution there, and local unions are now voting on the typographical union's proposition. Mr. Cornelius, though he favored it last year, is now opposed to it, and the Car Men's Union of San Francisco has voted down the proposition to instruct its delegates in accordance with the typographical wishes. What is its reason for the course it has chosen to take now is not known here, but some of the best known men in the labor movement in Alameda county, who have also previously been in favor of the typographical proposition, are also now against it, on the ground that it does not go far enough; that to exclude holders of political offices, no matter how good union men, is to deprive the labor movement of the best talent in the country, and that the exclusion of delegates is merely to make so fine a distinction as would cause endless trouble without doing any real good.

The report of the annual meeting of the national federation of labor societies in Great Britain, printed in a recent number of the Labor Clarion of San Francisco, gives a very interesting resume of the history of action on this question in that country, the outcome of which has been the full exclusion of political office holders from delegate bodies in that country, this result being brought about, in a very large degree, by the voluntary action of such men as John Burns, who, though unionists of the first class, had ceased to be practical workers at their trades and were holders of political office, though they were using their powers in those spheres for unionism in the highest sense. Burns voluntarily resigned his position in trades union delegate bodies, saying that he thought the general movement was wise.

THE LATEST NEWS OF THE DAY--4:30 P. M.

BATTLED WITH CONVICTS

Two Prisoners and Two Guards Killed—Desperate Men Dynamite Gates.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 24.—At 3:15 o'clock this afternoon eight or ten convicts at the State Penitentiary suddenly mutinied and shot guards Barney Ellis and Charles Clay, killing them instantly. The suddenness of the mutiny temporarily paralyzed prison discipline and before any attempt to subdue the mutiny could be made the mutineers had exploded dynamite under the prison gates leading out into the public street.

Deputy Warden See at the same time fell probably mortally wounded by a bullet. Prison officials succeeded in preventing the escape of all but four of the desperate convicts.

These four gained the street, sprang into a passing wagon, knocked the driver from his seat and then miraculously escaping a fusillade of bullets, dashed the horse into full speed right through the residence portion of Jefferson City.

Officers from the penitentiary, armed with rifles, pursued and at the edge of town overtook the escaping desperadoes.

A battle ensued and three of the convicts were shot dead, the fourth escaping into the wooded country. Posses formed immediately and began a search through the woods, determined to take the convict dead or alive.

Warden Hall and five officers of the penitentiary were absent from the prison, having departed early in the day for the Government prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, accompanying a special train, transferring 11 Federal prisoners to Fort Leavenworth.

DOUGHERTY SENTENCED MASSACRE IS FEARED

Former School Superintendent Must Spend Years in Prison.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24.—Newton C. Dougherty has pleaded guilty to five of the charges against him and will be taken to the Joliet penitentiary either tonight or tomorrow. He appeared before Judge Worthington today, pleaded guilty and was given a sentence of from one to fourteen years on each of the five counts the same to be concurrent.

When the prisoner accompanied by W. T. Irwin one of his attorneys his son Ralph and a deputy sheriff left the jail for the courtroom, Dougherty said to the judge: "I guess I'll have to do it." In the courtroom there were 200 spectators. Attorney Irwin addressed the court. He said that Dougherty was a man of his property over to him and that he (Irwin) had been given the right of attorney to handle the case of his son. He added that Dougherty's property would amount to more than the school board defalcation. He admitted that Dougherty had been careless and that he stood willing to take his punishment.

And it is necessary to send him to the penitentiary as the law provides. It will be a severe punishment inasmuch as the 230 sentence will be confinement in the penitentiary for an indefinite term, not less than one year or more than fourteen years, solitary confinement in counts 21, 240, 242 and 244 the same sentence.

While the court was speaking Dougherty looked straight ahead of him and did not move a muscle. He said nothing when the sentence was pronounced and was taken back to jail escorted by his attorneys.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 24, via Sofia, Bulgaria.—The Porte's reply to the demands of the powers is not only a categorical rejection of the demands but contains thinly veiled threats that the pressure of Europe will possibly excite the Turkish population to reprisals on the Christians. The communication states that the Turkish government finds it absolutely impossible to accept financial control of Macedonia, as it would violate the Sultan's sovereignty. After repelling the proposition of the powers, the Porte's foreign agents note the conclusion.

"If the powers increase the pressure in order to compel the acceptance of the control scheme the Imperial government declines all responsibility for the consequences which may result from the discontent among the public."

The foreign representatives are considering the question of increasing the number of their guardships here to protect citizens of their nationalities.

Another British and American steamer from Boston Harbor is on the way to Holland to try to release the Argos.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The officials of the Graham & Morton Transportation Company declared this noon that all the crew and passengers were taken off by the breeches buoy.

At 10 o'clock the cable used to haul the breeches buoy parted, fortunately while the buoy was being hauled back to the steamer for another passenger. At the time this accident occurred there were seven passengers and the crew of twenty-two men remaining on the Argos.

The life saving crew, when their buoy line broke, realizing the peril of the situation, again took to their surf-boats in a desperate effort to reach the steamer. The sea was running high and it is not thought the life savers will succeed.

STEAMER IN DANGER

Hard Aground on Sandbar; Passengers Are Still Aboard.

HOLLAND, Mich., November 24.—During a terrific storm on Lake Michigan last night the passenger steamer Argos of the Graham & Morton Passenger Fleet, went hard aground on a sandbar north of the North Pier and all efforts to release her have up to this time been futile.

The boat is in great danger of being pounded to pieces. Owing to the heavy sea which is rolling in, it is impossible for the life saving crew to reach the steamer. The passengers and crew may be taken off by the breeches buoy.

The boat carries a crew of twenty-two men and thirty passengers are aboard. Another Graham & Morton steamer from Boston Harbor is on the way to Holland to try to release the Argos.

HUSBAND'S LOVE GREW COLD AS YEARS GO BY

Wife Re-Locates Spouse Only to be Threatened With Divorce Proceedings.

About twelve years ago, the wife and mother in the home of William Wallace, a carpenter residing in East Oakland, it is said, suddenly disappeared and the husband and father was left alone to provide and care for a son of about 6 years of age, and another son, a babe about 18 months old.

Where the mother had gone, what had become of her, the husband and father could not ascertain.

Yesterday, however, the missing woman learned of the whereabouts of the abandoned husband, who is still a resident of this city, and the husband ascertained that his runaway spouse is now domiciled in Santa Ana in this State.

DIVORCE IN SIGHT.
The discovery will lead to a divorce suit, which will be filed by the offended husband.

The discovery was made through a letter received by W. E. Thomas of this city, in which there was inquiry as to whether anything was known here of the whereabouts of William B. Wallace. The writer claimed to be the wife of the man in question and she further asserted that she had heard nothing of the father of her children since he left her about twelve years ago. The query was coupled with a reference to the fact that the man who acted upon the query would be able to appreciate the solicitude of the mother under the circumstances.

WALLACE LOCATED.
Captain Thomas set out to find the missing man. He knew of two men of the name in question. One of these was an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Yountville, and the other was a member of Appomattox Post, G. A. R., and an industrious worker at his trade as carpenter in this city.

"Do you know a William B. Wallace?" the missing man was asked.

"Well," was the reply, "I sometimes put a 'B' in my name to distinguish me from other William Wallaces in my family around here."

WIFE'S IDENTITY.
Wallace was then shown the letter of inquiry and asked if he knew the writer. "She's my wife," was the reply, "or she used to be. She ran away from my home in East Oakland about twelve years ago, leaving me with a boy 6 years old and a baby of only 18 months. I won't have anything to do with her, and now that I know where she is I am going to get a divorce from her. The boy of 6 years of age is now 18 years old, and is working near Livermore, and the babe of 18 months is now attending the Lincoln school."

INTIMATION OF COMPANY.
Wallace intimated that his alleged recent spouse had not been unattended in her escapade and that since her departure she had exercised maternal care over a child that was not a member of his family.

Friends of Wallace in Santa Ana have been written to and requested to inform the husband of the conditions surrounding the woman for the purpose of enabling Wallace to take steps to prolong for all time, the estrangement which broke up the deserted husband's once happy home.

UNCLE SAM'S COMMERCE INCREASED BY MILLIONS

Official Figures Just Issued Show a Marked Improvement in Trade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The commerce of the United States with its non-contiguous territory in 1905 seems likely to exceed by many million dollars that of any preceding year according to a statement issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its bureau of statistics.

The bureau's nine months' statement ending with September shows that the shipments from the United States to its non-contiguous territory amounted to $36,552,174 against $29,929,079 in the corresponding months of the preceding year and that the shipments of merchandise to the United States from its non-contiguous territory in the same period amounted to $68,500,150 against $5,171,628 in the corresponding months of the preceding year.

MERCHANDISE ONLY.
The figures given relate to merchandise only and do not include the gold and silver of which the shipments from Alaska to the United States were only $7,000,000 produced in that Territory, and $5,000,000 of foreign gold shipped from Alaska, being presumably that originating in British territory adjacent thereto.

In merchandise shipped from Alaska to the United States there is a falling off of a little less than $2,000,000 compared with the previous year. In shipments from the United States to Alaska there was an increase of nearly $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 over $1,000,000 in the corresponding months of the preceding year.

territory to the United States there was an increase of about $5,000,000 from Porto Rico, of over $4,000,000 from the Philippines and of about $12,000,000 from the Hawaiian Islands.

MAKES COMPARISONS.
The statement makes comparisons of the contrast in the trade of the United States with the above-mentioned places, in the same period prior to annexation. In the nine months ending September, 1897, the year prior to the annexation of Porto Rico, the shipments of merchandise from that island to the United States amounted to $1,161,000 as against $10,176,678 in the nine months just ended. In the nine months of 1897 the shipments from the United States to the United States amounted to $13,014,231, as against $35,650,701 in 1905. The shipments from the United States to the Philippines in 1897 amounted to $7,302,080 as against $11,792,724 in 1905. Shipments to Porto Rico in 1897 were $1,564,974 against $11,438,300 in 1905, those to the Hawaiian Islands in 1897 were $3,786,268 against $3,868,918 in 1905, and those to the Philippines in 1897 $5,166,660 against $4,482,537 for 1905.

The estimate is made that the total commerce with the non-contiguous territory for the entire year of 1905 will approximate $128,000,000. The shipments of sugar from the Hawaiian Islands for the nine months ending with September amounted to $33,113,471. The shipments of raw sugar from the Philippines in 1905 were $1,762,781 of refined sugar.

The shipments to the Philippines, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska in fact are practically all the articles of general character which the United States exports to other countries.

IS APPOINTED GOVERNOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—President Roosevelt today authorized the issuance of the following statement:

"The President announces the appointment of Herbert J. Hagerman of Roosevelt, N. M., as Governor of New Mexico, to take effect at the expiration of Governor Otero's term, January 23, 1906. There have been bitter factional quarrels in New Mexico for some time and in view of the President thought it best to select a man who was in no way connected with either of the factions. Mr. Hagerman was strongly recommended to the President by Secretary Hitchcock."

FAVORS FOOTBALL

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—President Benjamin L. Wheeler returned from the East last night and today addressed the student body at the university meeting held in Harmon Gymnasium. Football was discussed by President Wheeler, who spoke of Professor Howison who created a sensation a week ago by declaring that football players, and who had just mentioned him of pigs wallowing in the mire.

President Wheeler does not agree with Professor Howison. He aroused the student body by declaring that football was a game he very much disliked to lose. He pointed out to the students in his part as follows:

"I observed while in the East on the day after the game, that the Eastern press made no mention whatever of the result. Columns were printed about the football game in the East on that day but not a word of the Berkeley-Stanford game. That impressed me as a great deal. There is a great deal of talk about the game in the East and the West. While I was away I heard a great deal about football and some of the discussions related to an amended proposition and some proposed the abolition of the game entirely. I thought I think it is not a game to lose. I am afraid I do not agree with Professor Howison with whom the game is played. The game is too highly developed and specialized for the average student. Men have to be in an artificial state of preparation to play the game as it is played today. It never can be an easy or homelike game. Nobody can intend it should be a game of the future."

"I never objected to football on the ground that it was rough, but that it is not a game for the future. The average player is a gentleman and knows how to play the game. The great trouble is that the game is in the hands of a self-appointed, self-organized committee of men who refer to themselves as the football authorities. Last year this committee was in honor bound to adopt rules for a more open game. The matter was discussed and resulted and as a consequence nothing was done. With that they lost sight of the fact that the game is a game. They were to be a new rules committee."

Professor Richard Moulton, a Biblical scholar from the University of Chicago, followed President Wheeler with a brief address discussing some of his own experiences as a college man and drawing lessons from those experiences for the benefit of his hearers.

DESERVED BY WIFE

Ole Olsen, an electrical inventor and machinist, who resides at 290 Telegraph avenue reported to the police this morning that his wife had left him yesterday, taking with her their two children, aged 12 years and 10 years. Olsen, who is a native of Norway, has been married for 10 years. The only reason Olsen knows for his wife deserting him is that she objected to living in rooms in the rear of his shop. The husband further believes that prominent woman is largely responsible for the desertion of his wife. "Miss Bessie Baker," says Olsen, "has had much to do with my wife leaving me. If I could only talk to her she would come back to me. Yesterday she came with Policeman Murray and took two children, that is the last I have seen of her. She must have fallen under some strange influence or she would never have left me."

DEFENDS MURDER

Wife Says Better For One to Die Than Five be Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—Virginia De Paoli, the wife of Louis, the murderer of the only child of Mrs. De Paoli, today defended her husband in a broken English, of which she appears to be proud, the only complete account of the killing.

"Why did your husband kill the woman?" she was asked.

"Oh, she had power. You bet your life she had power. More power than ten men, my husband says, and she looked at the children. My husband wanted me to turn her chair so she would look at them. I-I pray, seven times, to Saint Antonio. You know he had a church on Army street. We went there last night and my sister-in-law she came home with us to help watch the sick children. My baby, she was sick. She died during the night for an hour, but I bring her back."

"Then my husband tell my sister-in-law not to look at children. She does it and he hit her with a chair. She fell down and he hit her. Then she got to her feet and my husband knocks her down again for she looks at the children and she had power. Bet your life, she had power. She bleeds on the head and she dies. But she had power."

The murdered woman bore an excellent reputation in the neighborhood where both families lived, for she was an industrious housewife and cared well for her five children. The eldest of these is a girl, aged 15, who left home at 7 o'clock this morning to attend her class at Heald's Business College. When the murder was discovered she was summoned home by telephone, and although she was in a state of great distress from her husband's death, she was unable to leave her home, but was unable to comfort the girl.

Her other children are Virginia, aged 14, Louisa, aged 10; Clarinda, aged 5, and Antonio, who is not yet 3 years old. Antonio, the husband of the murdered woman, is a cultivator of flowers like his brother.

CONVICT FINLEY IS FOUND GUILTY

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 24.—After being out twelve minutes, the jury in the case of John W. Finley, a Fresno prison convict, charged with conspiring to escape, at noon today brought in a verdict finding him guilty as charged. He was serving a life term for robbery and under the law, when such a prisoner is found guilty of attempting to escape, he must die on the gallows. Finley was one of a gang of desperate convicts who led an outbreak at the prison nearly a year ago and threatened to murder officers who were in their way. Two other convicts are yet to be tried for conspiracy.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—Frederick Ferrer, charged with battery by Elmo H. Cleveland, who says that he brutally attacked him a few nights ago without provocation, appeared before Judge Cone this morning and surrendered himself. A warrant was served upon him by Detective Brown.

He entered a plea of not guilty and waived a jury trial. At the defendant's request the case was continued to be set next Monday. Ferrer says that he is a juror in the United States Circuit Court in San Francisco, in Judge Morrow's department, and that he will be unable to be in this city for several days.

PLEADS GUILTY; IS FINED.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—Edward E. Conn, who was arrested on a battery charge preferred by J. Palmer, charged his plea to guilty this morning before Judge Cone and was fined $5.

Patrick Kane of the West End, who was not aware that Judge Tappan had a birthday yesterday, was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Lawrence. His bail was fixed at $5.

SEARCHES FOR LADY-LOVE; ARRESTED FOR BURGLAR

While attempting to find a woman with whom he had madly fallen in love, Carl Hanson, a brave and brawny Swedish sailor was arrested last night as a burglar by Detective George Kyte and Policeman Farber, as he patrolled in front of the residence of Wallace Everson, 1218 Filbert street. His mission was merely that of finding Miss Ida Thompson whom he had met the night before on Pacific street in San Francisco.

He acknowledged having fallen desperately in love with her and in token of his admiration for her had bought a large box of candy and a handsome bouquet.

HEART'S CASE IS HEARD IN COURT

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—"Personally, the success of Mr. Hearst will be disastrous to me, and will be to me," said his counsel, said August G. Fox, counsel for W. R. Hearst, in an argument before Justice Amend in the Supreme Court today on Mr. Hearst's effort to open the ballot boxes of the recent city election for a recount.

The first real test of the question whether the ballots shall actually be counted today, when the case was opened before Justice Amend, Alton B. Parker, former Democratic candidate for Mayor, and counsel for Mayor McClellan, objected to taking the case before Justice Gierke. Eventually the case was referred to the Supreme Court division of the Supreme Court for a decision as to which justice should hear the argument.

The bout will take place late in December, the men to weigh 135 pounds.

SUDDEN DEATH OF JEWELER
GATEMAN KILLED BY TRAIN
1 KILLED, 5 HURT IN WRECK

HENRY A. TREAGER PASSES AWAY WHILE IN ACT OF DRESSING.

Henry A. Treager, the well known jeweler, who has been located in business at 362 Washington street for eleven years past, died suddenly this morning at 5 o'clock, apparently from heart disease, from which he has been a sufferer for many years past. He complained of being ill during last night and two physicians were called in, but it seems their efforts were in vain to save his life, although the doctors did not expect an immediate demise or that his condition was in any way serious. Mr. Treager had just risen from bed this morning and was in the act of dressing himself when he suddenly expired. He fell to the floor, exclaiming at the time to his devoted son, Jacob, that he felt very dizzy and could not stand up.

DAVID MURRAY, FATHER OF POLICEMAN MURRAY, LOSES HIS LIFE.

David Murray, father of Policeman John Murray, who has been employed for many years by the Southern Pacific Company as a gateman, was struck and instantly killed at the mole last night about 6 o'clock by a switch engine.

REAR-END COLLISION OF FREIGHTS ON PENNSYLVANIA ROAD.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 24.—One trainman was killed and five others injured in a wreck on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Thompsonstown today. The wreck was caused by a rear-end collision between two freight trains going west. The mail train leaving Harrisburg at 4 40 a. m. ran into the wreckage, blocking four tracks and delaying traffic several hours. All the coaches of the mail train were wrecked but no damage was done to the mail.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN IRON FOUNDRY

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 24.—A fire early today practically destroyed the big plant of the T. H. Brooks foundry company, manufacturers of structural iron. Loss $100,000. The plant of the Old Steel Company was also damaged to the extent of $10,000.

Oakland Leads in Sanitary BUTTER MAKING

"Over in Oakland there is a creamery, probably the only one in the State, that uses distilled water for washing and working their butter. Now, we have no data at hand as to whether this pays in actual practice, we don't know to just what expense they are compelled to go to make distilled water, but we don't believe the cost is very high. At any rate, the principle of the thing is so good that we want to call every buttermaker's attention to it."

"When they wash the butter and work it in distilled water they are proceeding on good sanitary and scientific principles. So many creameries go to the trouble of destroying the bacteria in the cream and then turn around and introduce a whole lot of others through the wash water. But the use of distilled water is sure to be absolutely pure and there need be no fear of contaminating an otherwise good piece of butter."—Daily and Produce Journal, November 24.

ARCTIC EXPLORER MARRIED

MISS ALICE K. HOYT BECOMES
BRIDE OF MILLIONAIRE
STONE.

The marriage of Miss Alice K. Hoyt, of New York, and Andrew J. Stone, the millionaire, scientist, mining man and Arctic explorer, of New York, took place last Sunday morning at the home of Rev.
E. B. Baker in Oakland. The wedding was a quiet affair, no one being present but a few of the bride's immediate relatives. After the ceremony the happy pair departed for New York, from which place they will take passage for England and the Continent, where they have planned an extended wedding tour.
Mrs. Stone is well known in music, met her husband only a few months ago while on a visit at Seattle. An attachment sprang up between the two at their first meeting, which led in their coming to Oakland to be married.
Mr. Stone is well known on account of his Arctic explorations, of which he has written interesting accounts, which have been published in book form. He is a member of the American Museum of Natural History, and in 1898 went far into the north under the patronage of the institution. He believes that the northwest passage is the shortest and most practical way to the North Pole, and for many years has had an ambition to beat
Lieutenant Peary in reaching that spot.
His discoveries have resulted in transforming the map of the Arctic coast line, he having traversed the country more thoroughly, perhaps than any other white man. Mr. Stone also has valuable mining interests in Nome and other parts of Alaska.

STRUCK THE REAL THING.
(From the Philadelphia Bulletin.)
"Here's our star half-back laid up with two broken ribs," howled the manager, "and enough internal-injuries to keep him in bed for a month."
"Well," told you, to keep him out of all bruising games," snarled the coach.
"It wasn't that. The darn fool had to go and accompany his girl to a bargain sale."

BRICK-LAYER

EARNING $5 A DAY, HE FALLS
HEIR TO $9,500.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Thomas H. Mitchell, a city brick layer, who earns $5 a day, is reported to have fallen heir to $9,500,000, his portion of an estate of $47,500,000 left by two grand uncles in Australia. He says information to this effect came to him yesterday, from his former home, Portumna, County of Galway, Ireland. His mother, he said, has inherited the estate and he will receive a share. He is awaiting further confirmation of the report before he lays down his trowel.

The flags were sent to the theater by British officers and the girls in the chorus were instructed to wear them. Miss Leslie, who is Irish, refused point-blank. BUNCO MAN IS
SENTENCED

"SHEENEY MIKE" IS AWARDED
SEVEN YEARS IN SING SING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Max Cohen, a bunco man who is known as "Sheeney Mike," was yesterday sent to Sing Sing prison for seven years. Cohen tried to swindle David Landon of San Francisco, out of $450. Landon was stopping at the Vendome Hotel, and met Cohen, who said he was "Mr. Anheuser, the beer man." Then Cohen introduced Landon to another man as "Mr. Busch, my partner." They sat at a table in the cafe, and Cohen ordered "some of my beer—you know—Anheuser-Busch." There was a dispute as to who should pay, and it was suggested that Landon had no money to pay with anyone. He produced a roll of $450. "Anheuser" grabbed the money and "Busch" grabbed Landon. In the scuffle that followed Cohen was caught but his partner escaped. Landon's story kept the audience in the court room laughing. "It's a funny story to hear," said Judge McMahon in sentencing Cohen, "but this bunco business has got to be stopped."

WOMAN.

POINT RICHMOND, Nov. 24.—John Grant has been sentenced to four months in the County Jail by Judge Wells. It will be remembered that Grant was arrested at Richmond some weeks ago at the instance of a former associate, a resident of the State of Oregon but now of Oakland, who swore to a warrant charging Grant with adultery. The latter pleaded guilty to the charge when his trial came up in the Superior Court and sentence was pronounced by Judge Wells. Grant eloped with the wife of Smith from a small town in Oregon some three years ago, and after stopping at various places, the couple located at Richmond, where the husband who had been following them up, found them living as man and wife.

TO PROMOTE RAILWAY.
Without a doubt Contra Costa will become a network of electric railways in the near future. The men with capital realize that this is an inviting field and one that will pay. The electric railway at Richmond that now connects this county with the county of Alameda and the application for an electric railway to be built through the streets of Martinez, there seems to be another project of the same nature on foot and the fact that it is said, has the backing of W. S. Rheem and his associates at Point Richmond. It is more or less than a year since an electric line from San Pablo, the present terminus of the line in that section, as far east as Vallejo Junction, was put on a fast ferry-boat connecting with Vallejo and making a strong bid for the business of that section. After the road is completed as far as Vallejo Junction, no doubt it will be extended to Martinez. Quick means of transportation between the towns of the county is what is badly needed, and with the freight that can be hauled, those who are in a position to participate in building the road will pay for the start. Already the Belt Line road that extends from Richmond around the Potrero, to Point San Pablo, is being equipped with electricity. The volume of business in the line is being handled at Point San Pablo has increased to such an extent that the change was made necessary.

HEALTH BOARD MEETS.
The local Board of Health met in Dr. Barney's office last night and organized the following: Dr. Barney, president; J. P. Brooks, vice-president; A. C. Trautvetter, secretary. Dr. Barney was elected Health Officer. Messrs. Brooks and Jenkins were appointed a committee to draft rules and regulations. A resolution was passed to notify persons maintaining nuisances according to the provisions of ordinance No. 15.

BRIEFLETS.
The Good Templars gave a big blow-out Wednesday night at Roth's Hall. Several members of the order were up from Oakland to participate and lend a hand toward the enjoyment of the occasion. Two new members were initiated into the mysteries of the order. John Ralph Wilson, the well-known attorney of San Francisco, and Charles Rickman, formerly associated in the law with business with Attorney John D. Windrem, have formed a partnership and opened up for the practice of law on McDonald avenue, in the Annetic building.

HILL IS IN FAVOR OF RECIPROCITY

MERIDEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—Congressman E. B. Hill yesterday expressed himself very strongly in favor of reciprocity with the Philippines. "It will be a great day for Connecticut," he said, "when reciprocity with the island is established. From what I have learned during my trip to the islands it will be the means of adding a million or two dollars a year to the revenue of the state. I am convinced that with no tariff on Connecticut tobacco in the Philippines thousands of pounds would be sent there each year. "During my stay in the islands I interviewed many of the largest tobacco manufacturers and they told me they with a Connecticut wrapper they could successfully compete with the Germans, who are rapidly winning the trade of China and Manchuria away from them. The manufacturers are obliged to import their tobacco from the Philippines from Sumatra and province of Salsela at heavy expense. "I shall do all in my power to work for the passage of the bill in the coming Congress."

FACTS ABOUT COTTON.
The world's cotton production for 1904, entering commercial channels, was 15,041,559 bales, with a total consumption of 15,474,596 bales. This indicates a surplus in the world's factory supply of cotton amounting to 2,556,879 bales. The total production and consumption of cotton, however, does not represent the full statistics for the world. Large quantities of cotton are grown and consumed in China, Russia, and other eastern countries, and in South and Central America, which do not enter into commercial channels and cannot be estimated with any certainty.—Harper's Weekly.

PASSING OF PORRIDGE
Makes Way for the Better Food of a Better Day.

"Porridge is no longer used for breakfast," writes a lady from Huntsville, Ontario. This was an admission of no small significance to one brought up on the time honored stand-by. "One month ago," she continues, "I bought a package of Grape-Nuts food for my husband, who had been an invalid for over a year. He had passed through a severe attack of pneumonia and a gripple combined, and was left in a very bad condition when they passed away. "I tried everything for his benefit, but nothing seemed to do him any good. Month followed month and he still remained as weak as ever. I was almost discouraged about him. I got the Grape-Nuts, but the result has compensated me for my anxiety. "In the one month that he has eaten Grape-Nuts he has gained ten pounds in weight, his strength is rapidly returning to him, and he feels like a new man. Now we all eat Grape-Nuts food, and are the better for it. Our little 5-year-old boy, who used to suffer from pains in the stomach after eating the old-fashioned porridge, has no more trouble since he began to use Grape-Nuts, and I have no more doctor's bills to pay for him. "We use Grape-Nuts with only sweet cream, and find it the most tasty dish in our bill of fare. "Last Monday I ate four teaspoonsful of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast, nothing else, then set to work and got my morning's work done by 1 o'clock, and felt less tired, much stronger, than if I had made my breakfast on meat, potatoes, etc., as I used to. I wouldn't be without Grape-Nuts in the house for any money. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. There's a reason. Read the little book 'The Road to Wellville,' in package."

HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARS TO PLAY SERIES OF BASKET BALL GAMES.

LIVERMORE, Nov. 24.—About eighty couples attended the social dance given by the Young Men's Institute on Wednesday night of this week. The dance was a social feature of the lodge, and only the relatives and friends of the members were invited. Music was furnished by the Livermore orchestra. Next Saturday there will be a game of basket ball on the high school campus, between the seniors and the lower classes. This is the first of a series of basket ball games to be played here. The new floor and feed mill will be in partial operation Friday, the barley crusher having been installed and put in working condition. Hans Christensen, while stabling a fractious horse, slipped and fell under the feet of the animal, which kicked him in the back of the head. It has not been learned positively whether the skull was fractured or not. A burning stack of straw on the Carl Holmes property caused considerable excitement late Thursday afternoon, but the flames were confined to the stack, so that no great amount of damage was done. The committee in charge of the annual military ball to be given on Thanksgiving Eve are making preparations on an extensive scale, and it is expected that the affair will be one of the social successes of the season.

PERSONAL.
Nicholas and Will Maguire of San Francisco spent the early part of the week in town. Miss Minnie Bainbridge of Santa Maria came up this week on business. Geo. V. Taylor of Oakland spent Sunday with relatives and friends here. Miss Sadie Callaghan of San Francisco was up on a visit to her mother, Mrs. S. Callaghan, Sunday. Harry Morill, Alec McDonald and Cass Livermore returned Wednesday from a week's hunting trip on the San Joaquin.

SUITS AGAINST A MILLIONAIRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The suits filed in Jersey City yesterday against David H. Moffatt, the mining and railroad millionaire of Denver, grew out of investments made in a pleasure park at Chesapeake Beach, Md. Charles R. Myers, a wealthy hotel owner of Atlantic City, the complainant, brings the suits as an executor through lawyer E. B. Leaming of San Francisco. Several years ago Charles R. Myers, his brother, the late John Myers, and President McCracken, of the Camden Central Trust Company, secured a lease hold on the land, and expended $120,000 in improvements at Chesapeake Beach with the intention of establishing what was termed at the time an American Monte Carlo and pleasure resort. A charter was secured in the Maryland Legislature. Owing to poor transportation facilities the venture was not a success. The property was afterward sold at what was alleged to be a tax sale, and went to David H. Moffatt. The taxes amounted to about $400. No notice of the sale had ever been given to Myers, he asserts, and he claims that his interest was under a leasehold, and that he should not have been liable for the taxes and that they should have been paid by the owner and could not affect his interest. Moffatt, continuing to keep possession, Mr. Myers brought suit to recover damages and the $120,000 expended for the improvements to the land, together with interest. For months attempt has been made to get service of papers on Moffatt in New Jersey, Maryland and New York. The park is located about thirty miles from Washington, D. C. Mr. Moffatt is at the Fifth-avenue Hotel. He refused to discuss the case last night.

Worth Its

A good sewing machine. It will save eyesight which of itself is priceless. It will save time which is money. It will save worry and work which means health and it will save patience and irritability which means happiness. Surely then nothing can be so appropriate or so valuable for a Christmas gift. But don't give a "premium" machine. You know a premium is something thrown in as an additional encouragement to sell something else. Our sewing machines are good enough to sell on their own individual merits. New Styles While They Are New

Every manufacturer of good shoes goes to the same source for his new styles. The closest watch is kept for new models designed by a certain few exclusive custom bootmakers.

The ordinary manufacturer is not content to copy exactly, but tries to save a little leather here, or to "improve" the shape a little there—and then he is compelled to put his "improved" shoes on the market through the old roundabout way which adds four profits to the price and at least six months to the time. Regals are true, unaltered copies of the same originals, and Regal direct methods bring you the new styles before the first pair has been six weeks off the custom bootmaker's lasts. Six-dollar shoes (and better) at the wholesale price.

Seventy-five styles. Every shape. Eleven leathers. Eight widths. Quarter-Sizes!

IS DISEASE A CRIME?

Not so very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer asserted, in substance, that all disease should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws, which, if understood and implicitly followed, would result in the prevention of much of the sickness and suffering of humanity. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must, on a little reflection, appeal to every reasonable and intelligent individual as radically wrong.

Thousands suffer from contagious and infectious diseases most innocently and unconsciously contracted. Other thousands suffer and die of cancerous affections, the cause of which no medical man has yet been wise enough to ferret out and determine, and which can not, therefore, be avoided. Then, many times stress of circumstances compel people to expose themselves to various disease-producing agencies, such as malaria, bad air in overcrowded factories, coal mines, and many other situations, and surely those who suffer therefrom should not be branded as criminals.

Insofar as disease is contracted or brought on one's self from harmful excesses, overeating, intemperance and other like indulgences and debauchery, we think, with our editor friend, that it should be regarded as little less than criminal. On the other hand, we think it would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes, criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, overworked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens which she is obliged to struggle along under until she succumbs to the strains of disease, and suffers from weakness, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

The too frequent bearing of children, with its attendant demands upon the system, coupled with the care, worry and labor of rearing a large family, is often the cause of weakness, derangements and debility which the mother has to bear and which are aggravated by the many household cares and the hard, and never-ending work which she is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce, the maker of that world-famed remedy for women's peculiar ills—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—says that one of the greatest obstacles to the cure of this class of maladies is the fact that the poor, overworked housewife can not get the needed rest from her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his "Prescription" its full benefits. It is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to meet with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to abstain from hard work long enough to be cured. With those suffering from prolapsus, ante-version and retro-version of the uterus or other displacement of the woman's organs, it is very necessary that, in addition to taking his "Favorite Prescription" they abstain from being very much, or for long periods, on their feet. All heavy lifting, or straining of any kind should also be avoided. As much out-door exercise as possible, with moderate, light exercise is also very important.

It is Dr. Pierce's observation that many housewives are much in a weakened condition of their system from too close confinement indoors. Often the kitchen, where they spend most of their time, is ventilated and the bad air and over-heating of the room, which is unfavorable upon the woman's strength, until she finds herself suffering from various weaknesses attended by backache, bearing-down pains, or dragging-down sensations that are extremely hard to bear. A cathartic, pelvic drain, or most debilitating and disagreeable nature, is a common symptom of the congested or inflamed condition of the lining membranes of the pelvic organs, attended, perhaps, with tenderness and pain in these regions.

Now, while all the foregoing disagreeable symptoms and sensations will generally yield to the faithful and somewhat persistent use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, to realize the very best results from its use, the patient must, as far as possible, abstain from over-work, worry and too close confinement indoors.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household duties or in social duties and functions which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers, the "Favorite Prescription" has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating agent. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeon's knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be resorted to if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers in preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their harmless character, but is a medicine of known composition, a full list of all its ingredients being printed in plain English, on every bottle wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, that does not contain alcohol, and that (too in large quantities). Furthermore, it is the only medicine for woman's special diseases, the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't forget that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for woman's weaknesses and delicate ailments, is not a patent or secret medicine, being the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and graduated physician, engaged in the practice of his chosen specialty—that of diseases of women—that its ingredients are printed in plain English on every bottle wrapper; that it is not a patent or secret medicine, designed for the cure of woman's diseases that contains no alcohol, and the only one that has a professional endorsement more than all the so-called "testimonials" ever published for other medicines.

An invitation is extended by Dr. Pierce to every sick and ailing woman to consult him by letter. There is absolutely no charge or fee for this. Every letter is carefully considered, fully answered, and its statements held as strictly private and securely confidential. Address as above directed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. On "Pleasant Pellets" is a genuine laxative and two mild cathartics. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page Illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 41 cent stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

PROFESSOR LOEB TELLS OF EXPERIMENTS

Result of Tests to Determine Character of Force Which Produces Life in Mollusc Eggs.

BERKELEY, November 24.—Professor Jacques Loeb, the eminent savant whose researches into the secret of the origin of life have given him unique fame, is completing the set of experiments that it is hoped will eventually make clear the life problem, and today added another to the many steps already taken in this direction when he issued an announcement regarding chemical methods he has employed to mature eggs of a mollusc, the Lottia gigantea.

The result of Professor Loeb's experiments with these eggs of the mollusc have caused him to revise theories previously held. The experiments included the testing of the effects of hypertonic sea-water upon mollusc eggs, with a view to determining how fertilization might be accomplished, and also to determine whether the action of sea-water and its effect upon the eggs is of a physical or chemical character. Loeb formerly believed the action was of a physical character, but now revises this opinion.

Discussing his experiments Professor Loeb today made the following announcement:

Two years ago I published the fact that I was able to produce larvae from the unfertilized eggs of certain limpets (Gastropoda, Lottia gigantea), submitting these eggs for about two hours to hypertonic sea-water of a certain concentration; but that I was not able to produce larvae by fertilizing the eggs of the same females with sperm. Soon after I found my new method of artificial parthenogenesis, I tried it also on the eggs of limpets, especially Lottia gigantea.

I was never able to cause more than about five per cent of the eggs of Lottia to develop parthenogenetically by treating them with hypertonic sea-water, the reason being that no more than that number were caused to become mature by this method. Artificial parthenogenesis is not always successful in Lottia, since the hypertonic sea-water does not in all cases cause eggs to become mature. These observations on the influence of hypertonic sea-water on the process of maturation are of special interest since they seem to pave the way for a decision of another question that I have often asked in my lectures on artificial parthenogenesis, namely, whether the hypertonic sea-water caused the development of the unfertilized egg by a merely physical or a chemical influence upon the latter. I first I was inclined to assume that there existed a direct physical influence of the extraction of water from the egg upon the colloids in the egg and I used to discuss this possibility in my lectures. More fully than in my papers, especially in connection with the work of Hardy. But at the same time a possibility of a chemical effect existed and could be accounted for by the fact that the less water on the part of the egg must alter the degree of electrolytic dissociation unequally for the different salts contained in the egg. One of the results might be a change in the concentration of the H⁺ or H⁺ ions in the egg and this might lead to a catalysis of certain chemical processes. Since our experiments indicate that the influence of alkali upon the process of maturation is a chemical one it is probable that the equal though weaker effect of the hypertonic sea-water upon the same process is also chemical. I intend to continue this line of inquiry.

SCROFULA AN AWFUL INHERITANCE

While it is true that Scrofula may be acquired under certain conditions, it is usually inherited. Parents who are related by the ties of blood, or who have a consumptive tendency, or family blood taint of any character, are sure to transmit it to their children in the form of Scrofula. Swollen glands, brittle bones, poor digestion, weak eyes, Catarrh, emaciated bodies and general weak constitutions are the principal ways in which the disease is manifested. The blood has been diseased from birth, and being in this condition cannot properly nourish the body and Scrofula is the result. A hereditary disease like this can only be reached by a constitutional remedy and nothing equals S. S. S. as a cure for it. It cleanses and strengthens the deteriorated blood, drives out all scrofulous and tubercular deposits, and there is a gradual but sure return to health. S. S. S. supplies to the anemic, lifeless blood the properties necessary to build back to strong, robust health, and does this gently and so thoroughly that no signs of the disease are ever seen in after life. Being purely vegetable S. S. S. is the best remedy for Scrofula; its harmless but healing ingredients enter into the circulation and replace wax-like, bloodless faces with vigorous strength glowing with health. Book with information about Scrofula and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

DIMOND DOINGS Business Notes From Upper Fruitvale.

FRUITVALE, Nov. 24.—It is reported on what seems excellent authority that the Santa Fe Railroad Company, which some time ago purchased fifty feet frontage on upper Fruitvale avenue in the Dimond tract, has within the last few days bought another strip adjoining, in order to get more complete facilities for the improvements which it contemplates making here in the not distant future.

WEDDING RECEPTION.
A social event which is very pleasantly spoken of by people of Upper Fruitvale is the reception which was given to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Nielsen, recently married. Mr. Nielsen is the senior partner of Nielsen and Anderson, the grocers, on Hopkins street, one of the leading and oldest firms here, and his wife was formerly Miss Annie Broderick. The reception was given in Upper Fruitvale hall, Tuesday evening, and was very generally attended by the people of the thriving little burg, and was a most enjoyable affair to two worthy people.

GAS.
Gas mains are being laid on Fruitvale avenue above Hopkins street, for a block or so, and Dimond (postoffice) is taking on the air of a first-class residence suburb. The little conveniences of commercial life are increasing rapidly.

NEW BUILDING.
D. S. Mounts is putting up a commodious two-story building on Fruitvale avenue, below and near Hopkins street, into which himself and family expect to move within a couple of weeks.

DANCING SCHOOL.
Dimond is getting all the comforts of home. The latest is a dancing school, taught by Mrs. Pullen, assisted by Miss Mabel Pratt.

ONE MORE.
L. S. Cron of the Fruitvale avenue bakery is the latest victim of the so-called blood-poisoning trouble with which so many people have suffered this season. As with others, it started from a slight scratch, on one hand, and laid him out entirely for a couple of days.

PERSONAL.
F. Johnston, recently from Nome, Alaska, has bought from the Russell Real Estate Company lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, Block F, in the Laurel Grove tract, with four-room house on them, and has moved in with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mansson of Laurel Grove, go to Chicago Saturday to Eve.

MORE CONTRIBUTIONS.
F. S. Lewis has given $50 to the Fire Department. The building on Fruitvale street, is rapidly going up and will soon be under cover.

CARROLL CUFFED 'EM.
The Cosad trained animal show broke up in a row Wednesday evening, after the performance. Some of the roustabouts were disgraced over money matters, others ugly, and between the two causes work on dismantling the "tent city" didn't proceed with a cent. The "loyal" men picked up sticks and pickets to drive the contrary ones to the door. What! shall we receive good at the hand of God and shall we not receive evil? Friends and spectators gathered about him to speak words of consolation. Then, his suffering became intense. Job cursed, not God, but the day of his birth. His suffering is sent as a test of his saintship. The consolation of his friends is that all suffering is judgment upon sin. They say he has but to put away sin and he will become well. Job looked for different consolation from them and longs for the day of his death. He says that no consolation could bring this upon him. He asks that they leave him alone so that he

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.
Captain and Mrs. Dickson celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding at their home, 1310 Bassett street, on Sunday, November 13. Games were played, and dancing was the enjoyment of the night. At 8 p. m. supper was served, and at 9 p. m. ice cream and cake. Music was also enjoyed. At 12 o'clock the guests departed, feeling that they had added another pleasant memory to their lives. There were twenty of the "grown-up" friends present, and almost as many children.

CRUSHED BY TRAIN Japanese is Run Down by Engine at Berkeley.

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—S. Haneat, a young Japanese of Berkeley, was struck by a Southern Pacific engine at Center street and Shattuck avenue last night, and mangled so that his injuries were pronounced fatal by attending physicians. He died an hour later. Haneat's leg was almost severed from his body. His chest was crushed, and his head cut. The train, drawn him a distance of about forty feet from the point at the corner of Center and Shattuck avenue, where he was caught by the engine.

Haneat was crossing this track and failed to hear the oncoming train. Benjamin Suyvo, the engineer, declares that he rang the bell as usual, and conductor E. Palliser corroborates the assertion. The Coroner will hear testimony on this point from the trainmen and others.

Haneat was a shoemaker, employed in a Japanese factory at Center and Millvia streets. He was 28 years old, and a single man.

PLATE GLASS IS DESTROYED BY VANDAYS
BERKELEY, November 24.—Some time last night the expensive glass front of the real estate offices of Hutchinson & Munson were smashed in by vandals. An effort is being made to find out who are responsible for the damages to the store front. It is possible that the vandals may have been broken by accident, but the presumption is that malicious persons did the damage. Some $30 or $40 will be required to cover the breakage.

RESPONSIBLE PLACE FOR COLLEGE MAN
BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—R. I. Sander, civil engineer, formerly with the Southern Pacific Company in Lower California, and later in the engineer corps of the Ocean Shore Railroad, has been appointed topographer on the new Napa-Lakeport electric railway. He visited the campus last week to confer with former instructors in civil engineering, and joined his corps on the 20th inst.

BOOK OF JOB IS A DRAMATIC POEM Biblical Scholar Talks to Berkeley Audience About Scriptural Character.

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—Professor Richard Green Moulton, the distinguished Bible editor and member of the faculty of the University of Chicago, delivered the last of his series of lectures at St. Mark's Church last night.

Professor Moulton spoke last night on the book of Job. Some of his thoughts were: "The book of Job is a dramatic poem in the epic style, depicting the mystery of suffering." Job is first shown to be a righteous man, with much wealth, giving religious care to his children. Then Satan appears before God and falsely accuses Job and God, gives him leave to tempt Job, but "in all this Job sinned not nor charged God foolishly." Again Satan receives permission to tempt Job and "smote him with sore boils from the sole of his foot unto his crown. Job suffered sorely in his skin. What! shall we receive good at the hand of God and shall we not receive evil?" Friends and spectators gathered about him to speak words of consolation. Then, his suffering became intense. Job cursed, not God, but the day of his birth. His suffering is sent as a test of his saintship. The consolation of his friends is that all suffering is judgment upon sin. They say he has but to put away sin and he will become well. Job looked for different consolation from them and longs for the day of his death. He says that no consolation could bring this upon him. He asks that they leave him alone so that he may recover his strength before he returns hence. Never before has he seen a good man question the judgment of God. It is the power of God that has done this and even though he play him he still shall trust him. Job's friends continue to be miserable comforters, but the more Job falls in these sources the more he thinks of vindication on high. He says "apart from my flesh shall I see God." The ways of the Almighty are not to be traced to earth. The wicked triumph, the orphans and widows are left powerless, poverty is made more hard to bear because it is side by side with progress. Job is made to look the doctrine in the face.

The doctrine of the three friends is that those that use "up against the Lord are his enemies."

The third solution to the mystery of suffering is the warning against more sin. "The youthful Elihu stands forth from the throng and, deigning no reply to the three friends, looks to the sky and asks if God is to be benefited or injured by the righteousness or wickedness of one man."

The fourth solution is good and sublime. Finally, Job's eye seeth and he therefore says that he is not perfect, but that he is innocent of sin. The anger of the Lord is shown to be against the three friends.

The fifth solution shows our attitude. "The strong faith of Job is more acceptable than the blind adoration of his friends. Then Job has to make intercession for his friends. Job is thus relieved of his troubles, doubles his blessings and lives till an old age."

TELLS OF ROMANCE Berkeley Man Has Story That is Unique.

BERKELEY, November 24.—Lewis M. Williamson, of the firm of Williamson & Mason, who left here early in November with his bride to spend his honeymoon in Oregon, dropped into Berkeley Saturday on a brief business trip, and last night left again for the north to join his wife. Mrs. Williamson, who was Miss Jessie Davidson before her romantic marriage, Mr. Williamson is now at Grange Pass, Oregon.

Mr. Williamson combined business with romance on the honeymoon, and is now the owner of two sections of lumber land at Grange Pass. He goes back to acquire more timber property, and will engage in the lumber business in the north. The land purchased by Mr. Williamson is thickly wooded with best Oregon pine, and a lumber mill has already been erected in the heart of the forest.

Mr. Williamson has not entirely completed his new business arrangements, but he has decided that he will not run his business in Berkeley. Mr. Mason will conduct the business here and Williamson will divide his time between the lumber mill in the north and his Berkeley enterprises.

Mr. Williamson tells an exciting story of the wreck of the steamer St. Paul near Eureka. Both he and his bride were passengers on the ill-fated ship. When the vessel struck the rocks, he would not risk passage in the lifeboats, but bravely stayed by the stranded ship with his wife all through the dark night and the next day, waiting for help. After twenty-four hours a tug from Eureka rescued them from their perilous situation.

PLANS FOR TRYING TO THREATEN THE NEW CATHEDRAL TO SAVE THE BOY England's Cabinet May Decide to Dissolve Parliament.

Designs However May Lin Church Making a Hard
Yet Undergo Some Fight For Percy
Radical Changes. Pembroke.

Plans for the new cathedral of the Scottish Rite Masons of this city have been accepted by that organization, though, at present, there is a strong sentiment among some of the members who have disposition of the matter, to have the accepted designs changed.

The Scottish Rite Cathedral Association desires to put up a building which shall not only have an appearance of solidity, but which shall really be solid and substantial.

WANT STONE STRUCTURE.

For that reason it is proposed to erect the structure of stone and, thus far, Colusa masonry has been receiving favorable consideration of the directors.

This is the material which has been considered in connection with the present plans, and contractors are figuring for the purpose of getting a preliminary idea of what the structure would cost with that kind of stone for the facade.

QUESTION OF COST.

The organization aims to put up a cathedral which will cost $100,000, but an idea obtains that the cost of the structure under the proposed plans would be from $120,000 to $150,000.

NOT FOR BUSINESS.

The present plans are of the French Renaissance, and aim to convey the idea that the structure is not intended for commercial purposes such as will doubtless be the purpose of the buildings which will surround it.

WANT MORE PROPERTY.

The association owns a lot at the southwest corner of Harrison and Fourteenth streets, 100x100 feet. It is upon this site that, at present, the proposed building is to be located, although an attempt has been made to acquire a larger lot by the purchase of the lot immediately to the south, facing on Harrison street, which is now occupied by the Welsh Presbyterian Church, which has a frontage of fifty feet and a depth of 100 feet.

The church society demanding about twice that sum. This demand has caused negotiations to be broken off for the purchase of the lot.

DISPOSAL OF OLD CATHEDRAL.

The association has also received figures for the purchase of the lot immediately east of the Ebel Society hall, and on the south side of Thirteenth street, owned by W. I. Reed, but without affirmative result.

When the erection of the proposed new cathedral is to be commenced, the old wooden cathedral now on the site of the proposed new building will be turned over to W. I. Reed, who will move it to the lot last referred to at his own expense and keep it in repair for meeting purposes for the Scottish Rite Masons until after the dedication of their new cathedral, when the old frame structure will become the possession of Mr. Reed.

BLIND WOMAN

SENT TO ASYLUM

Blind and now adjudged insane, Mrs. Lillie Fulton was this morning committed to the insane asylum at Stockton by Judge Harris. She has been an inmate of the home for blind for some time past, but worry over her condition and the progress of the disease which has taken the sight from her has finally unhinged her reason. She is unable to help herself and has to be constantly attended.

She is the wife of a Sacramento man and went to the Blind Home a few months ago, but finally got so bad that she could no longer be kept there. She kept the place in a turmoil and threatened the lives of those with whom she came in contact.

CHARGE DISMISSED.

The felony charge preferred against A. F. Bull, a manufacturer of artificial limbs, by Miss Mary W. Kennedy was dismissed by Police Judge Smith this morning. The couple were wedded yesterday, thus bringing to a happy termination a romance which had its beginning in an accident whereby Miss Kennedy lost one of her limbs.

ALLEGED THIEF.

Charles Osborn was arrested last night and placed on the detinue block at the City Prison on suspicion of being the tool thief who has robbed many buildings in the course of construction.

TO DELIVER LECTURE.

Professor Frederick E. Farrington of the pedagogical department of the University of California will give a lecture on the Froebel Society at the Lafayette School next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. His subject will be "The Opportunity of the Kindergarten."

The primary teacher in the Oakland School Department will be present.

LOSES HIS BICYCLE.

Percy Hassord, residing at 1108 East Twenty-second street, reported to the police this morning that he had lost a $35 bicycle yesterday by theft.

BELMONT CHOSEN.

FREDERICK THOMAS, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, today appointed August Belmont of New York as treasurer of the committee to succeed George Foster Peabody, who resigned, it is stated, on account of sickness.

THE HUB
BROADWAY AT ELEVENTH, OAKLAND

CUT OFF HIS THUMB

What Rumor a Little Fire Kindled.

HAYWARD, Nov. 24.—Manuel Cunha, while chopping wood at home yesterday, in some way cut the thumb of his left hand nearly off. Dr. Reynolds sewed it on in an effort to preserve its usefulness.

WEBB'S HOUSE.
A lady, Mrs. Webb, in the yard of the house of E. O. Webb, west of town, Wednesday evening, gave rise to the rumor in Hayward yesterday that the house had burned, but the report was erroneous. The house was uninjured.

A HAYWARD BOY.
Willie Knox, a Hayward boy bred and born, who has been the regulation time in the United States Navy, is back home on a visit. He looks fine, and says he is going back into the service. He has been in China, Japan and other Asiatic waters for the past three years.

WOMEN OF WOODCRAFT.
Hayward Women of Woodcraft had their usual monthly flow of soul and feast of good things of this earth at their meeting last evening, with an exceptionally enjoyable program.

GAMES.
There are possibilities of a game of baseball at Hayward next Sunday, between the clubs which were expected to play last Sunday, but in view of the weather the possibilities cannot be called very bright.

THE GREAT EVENT.
The following notice has been sent out by Clerk Wilbert of the Woodmen: "On Friday evening, December 1, the ten camps, W. O. W., surrounding Hayward will meet here to tender to our head camp a royal fraternal reception. Over 100 candidates will be initiated. A grand street parade, two degree teams, banquet and a general good time will characterize the log rolling. All sojourners are cordially invited. All members of Cypress Camp are urged to be present without fail, and meet at the hall at 7:30, from which place they will go in a body to meet the visiting neighbors and form procession to march to the Native Sons hall, where the initiatory work, banquet and drill will take place. Over 600 Woodmen are expected, and we want to extend to them our warmest welcome. Don't fail to come. By order of camp, P. WILBERT, Clerk. A large class will be obligated this evening, November 24. Come out."

SHOT IN THE ARM

Accident Befalls H. R. Gray in the East.

Word has reached here that Henry R. Gray, who was for a year or so the pleasant and efficient assistant postmaster of San Leandro, and recently went to his home near Kalamazoo, Mich., for a visit, was recently accidentally shot through the arm by the inefficiency of a boy who was handling a gun. So far as learned, he is not expected to suffer seriously from it.

UNHOLY JOE.
Joe Sylvester, who is reported to have told a friend that it was he who robbed the Sportsman saloon, missing from town. It was reported within a few days past that he was in Oakland, but search by the officers for him there failed to locate him. There is a warrant out for him.

IN AND OUT.
A Mr. Snow, from Colorado, has rented the Elksen cottage on San Lorenzo avenue.

Mr. Hall, recently from the East, has moved into the Webster house.
Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Burnett, residents of San Leandro for thirty years, have moved to San Francisco, to take the rest of life easy.

Some of "Uncle Joe" Cannon's friends have presented him with a Presidential boom, and now he probably feels that he has been gold-bricked.—Birmingham News.

$10,000 AND A KISS

Citizens Give Doctor the One, Society Woman the Other.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Memphis, Tenn., says: "Ten thousand dollars and a kiss from a leading society woman is the reward given to Dr. Heber Jones, president of the Memphis Board of Health, in recognition of his successful efforts in keeping the city free from yellow fever during the recent visit of the scourge to the Southern States."

The check was the result of a subscription list taken up by influential citizens, who quickly secured $10,000. The kiss was not on the program for the actual presentation, which occurred yesterday. The society woman was Mrs. James S. Robinson, wife of the millionaire pharmacist. Following the presentation of the check she walked up to the physician and, without a word of warning, kissed him squarely upon the lips.

The act took Dr. Jones by surprise, but he soon regained his composure.

PROTEST AGAINST NEW GAME LAWS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 24.—Commission men in St. Louis are up in arms against the new game laws recently enacted by the State Legislature, the statute being characterized as illegal from the fact, dealers allege, that they smack of class legislation.

It is stated that St. Louis firms are sending out printed matter telling of alleged discrimination. The new law makes against the common people in favor of the influential and wealthy gun clubs. The pamphlets declare that clubs have influenced legislation in forty-five States and Territories. The notices say in part:

"Not only is every citizen of St. Louis deprived of the right to buy game or have it shipped to him from any point in the State or have it in his possession at any time, but he is prevented from receiving any game from any other State or city—so that St. Louis is the only large city in the United States so hampered and impeded."

The laws are declared by the commission men to be selfishly unjust.

SOMETHING ABOUT MARS.

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—Professor Percival Lowell, director of the Flagstaff observatory, addressed the society of Arts of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology last night on "Recent Researches on the Canals of Mars."

The telescope through which the recent observations of the planet were made is a 24-inch glass and the most space-penetrating of any in the world. He said that the telescope Mars was the most superb object that could be imagined and there was no woman who would not give up her jewels for the effect.

Prof. Lowell differed with Prof. W. H. Pickering, who announced in 1898 that he discovered forty lakes upon the planet. The speaker said that observations at Flagstaff showed that the dots observed by Professor Pickering were there, but they were not lakes. The number of dots had increased to 400, as shown upon the disks and were recognizable today.

The whole surface of the planet was triangulated by lines which were believed to be canals. The canals started at the Arctic and continued straight down to the opposite pole. He therefore believed that these canals were not natural, but artificial. With everything beginning at the pole on Mars, the water had to wait until the polar caps were off. Observations determine that every oasis was clasped in a chain of canals. The behavior of these canals could only be interpreted by an artificial process. Professor Lowell concluded, therefore, that we were looking upon the work of some sort of intelligence.

REV. BOOTH DIES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Rev. Dr. Russell Booth, formerly pastor of the Rutgers Riverside Presbyterian Church, died yesterday. He was born in this city on May 16, 1830, the son of William A. and Alida Russell Booth.

Dr. Booth was ordained to the ministry in 1853 and his first charge was in this city. He was prominent in the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. Dr. Booth was elected moderator of the General Assembly at Pittsburgh in 1905. At the General Assembly in this city three years ago, Dr. Booth vigorously opposed the revision of the Westminster creed, but, after certain charges had been made, he finally yielded. He was the chairman of the Executive Committee of the Evangelical Alliance and a trustee of the Princeton Theological Seminary for many years and a member of the Free-Will Baptist Union and Denominational Union.

Among his literary works are a large number of magazine articles, and several books, including "The Face of Missions in Modern Christianity" and "The Christian Union and Denominational Loyalty."

LEANDRO BANDMEN

They Make Music at Witching Hour in Elmhurst.

ELMHURST, Nov. 24.—The towns along the line of the Oakland, San Leandro & Hayward electric railway are rapidly becoming one socially and otherwise. The social exchange of courtesy was already innumerable. Sunday evening last, the San Leandro Foresters' cornet band visited Elmhurst and took part in the birthday celebration of Manuel Olvera. From there, led by John Marshall, they proceeded at about half past ten o'clock to Sam's Inn, where they gave Sam Batt and his genial wife a genuine ovation in the way of a serenade. They rendered number after number of the finest brass band music. The proprietor of "Sam's Inn," who was just about to retire, was so surprised by the unusual sound at that hour of the night that he nearly dropped the cash register on to the floor; the roomers upstairs rolled out of bed on the double quick with cane down, heads were poked out of the windows in the Willow block, opposite; the men in the power house came to the front; and the people of the neighborhood generally sat up and took notice. After half an hour or so of melodious music, the band finally consented to a return of courtesies, and Mr. Batt, with the help of wife and friends, made things joyous and long to be pleasantly remembered mutually.

The members of the band present were: George Rogers, Oscar Burnett, August Von Glahn, Frank Burnett, Billy Rogers, James Larsen and Chester Burnett. The band was also accompanied by quite a number of the younger citizens of San Leandro, among them Frank Quinn, John Quadros and Chas. Enos.

GONE TO ITALY.
A. Burtellelli, who for years has been the much respected purveyor of fresh fish, both in this section and Oakland, with his wife and four little children, started Wednesday evening by the Oakland limited on a visit of a year or so to the city of Lucca in Italy, their former home, and where the parents of both still live, though at a rather advanced age. They expect to spend about a year there, but calculate to return.

Before leaving they sold their home and business on Jones avenue to A. Dasa Martino, lately of Wolf Landing, but formerly also of Lucca.

IMPROVEMENTS.
M. E. Allen is putting up another new house on Orchard avenue, two blocks from the county road, the third this year. D. L. Beaver has the contract for putting up W. H. Petton's new house on Jones avenue.

CHURCH SEXTON CAPTURES BURGLAR
CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Grappling with a burglar who he encountered in the hallway of his house, Charles A. Van Order, sexton of the Church of the Epiphany, last night struggled with the robber and succeeded in holding him until the arrival of the police.

The robber secured jewelry valued at $1000 and was about to escape when Van Order entered the hallway. The men rolled about the floor, knocking over furniture, until occupants of the other flats in the building were aroused and went to Van Order's assistance.

An old inhabitant of the village of Mads Moreton, near Buckingham, in England, has passed away in the person of Miss Mary Jones. She never possessed a clock or a timepiece of any description during the whole of her lifetime of eighty years. She timed her movements accurately by instinct, as primitive peoples do.

Do Not Try to Drive and Force It to Work When You Are Sick

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a bulky horse; force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill-treatment before it "balks," but when it does you had better get slow with it, and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomachs work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to do when it was well. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating—eat all and what you want—and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach; in fact, you will forget all about having a stomach, just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead and make it work, and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much-needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine as of them. In fact, physicians are prescribing them all over the land, and if your own doctor is real honest with you, he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.
